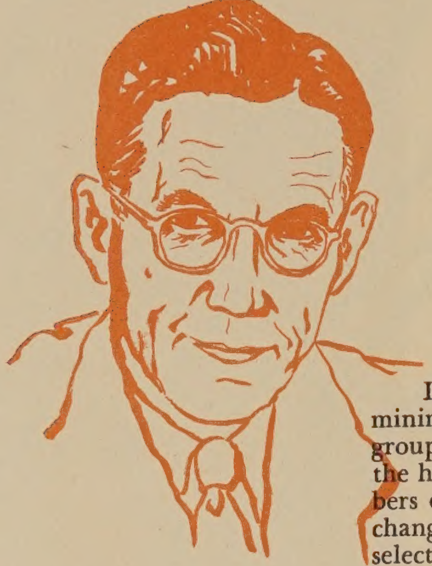
DEDICATION



TO EDUCATION

It is a truism that a college can be no better than its faculty. Without minimization of the place of extracurricular activities, social functions, and group living in the rounded development of the student, one cannot ignore that the heart of the college educational process is the faculty. Without faculty members devoted to quickening the growth of its students, with resultant inevitable changes in attitudes and horizons, a college cannot serve its proper function. To select and build a faculty of the necessary stature is the most important problem of the college administrator.

What are the major qualities which identify the ideal instructor? First, he must have intellectual capacity and insight. Knowledge of the subject he teaches, basically essential, must be supplemented by breadth of learning and by understanding of the interrelationships of his subject and other fields. Secondly, he must be articulate, able to communicate his ideas to his students. Thirdly, he must have deep interest in his students as individuals, concerning himself with their variations in ability, background, and motivation, anxious to learn their needs and to fulfill these insofar as he may. Fourthly, he must have enthusiasm for teaching and for his subject. This enthusiasm is the surest motivation for the hard work and continued study that underlie all good teaching, for the constant search for more effective methods of presentation, for the continual re-evaluation of one's teaching. Too, the enthusiasm of the student can seldom be engendered except by the enthusiasm of the instructor. Finally, the instructor must have personal integrity. Honesty, fairness, and justice must be engrained in his being. At every grading period, for example, he faces a test of his ethical standards; only if he successfully passes this test of fairness and justice can he merit the respect of his students and aid to instill in them a similar ideal of personal integrity.

Inherent in these essentials, or entwined with them, are other estimable qualities which might be named. Cooperation and institutional loyalty can scarcely be absent in a man of intelligence and personal integrity, or human sympathy and tolerance in a person deeply interested in his students. Where the five essentials are combined in a teacher the college administrator can be confident of the growth of his students under his warm and kindly light. With a faculty composed exclusively of men and women of such stature, details of curricula and course organization would become relatively insignificant. Education — in its truest sense — would be the end-result.

Evangeline Roberts

We feel that Miss Evangeline Roberts exemplifies the ideal type of instructor, spoken of in the dedication. We are dedicating the first half of the 1952 AGRICOLA to Miss Roberts.

FOREWORD

A college yearbook should be a reflection of campus life. Campus life includes a lot of things. There are the events which are unforgettable—the last minute touchdown that won the game on that cold November night, the big dance with the "name" band, our own personal achievements, and finally graduation. Moreover, there are the little things—the little unimportant things such as the Coke in the Techionery, the conversation and cigarette between classes, the lazy afternoon in the Spring, the walk to the Dorm from the Library on a warm moonlight night, and the friendly dormitory life. All these things, the big and the little go together to give the real sematical meaning to that which we call "campus life." It is the college atmosphere which we have tried to portray in the 1952 AGRICOLA.

A new long term building plan, including a new dorm for married men, a fieldhouse, and other major improvements, was approved in September 1951, by the Board. This building will take place over a long period of time as the huge cost necessitates gradual construction.

FACULTY

"Ou est mon chapeau?" . . . ANATOLE FRANCE

IN APPRECIATION

Although one would not disparage the contribution of the multitudinous non-academic experiences to the growth and development of the college student, the heart of college education lies in the quality of the faculty, in the knowledge, ideas, and attitudes imparted in classroom and personal conference. In building the faculty required by the growth of the College and its expansion to a degree-granting institution, Tech has sought, as a primary consideration, to retain or add men and women of the stature essential to a strong educational program.

Today, less than four years since Tech made its transition to a senior college, Tech has a faculty of which it and the state of Arkansas may well be proud. Measured by the objective criteria which accrediting agencies consider most important—amount of graduate study, preparation for their specialized teaching fields, master's degrees, and doctor's degrees—the Tech faculty takes second place to that of no other Arkansas college. Indicative of this strength, the faculty today averages two and one-half academic years of graduate study, almost twice the average graduate preparation of our faculty four years ago.

More important, in the unmeasurable intangibles requisite to the best teaching the Tech faculty is, I believe, comparatively even stronger. Degrees and long graduate study will not, in themselves, insure fine teaching. Added must be sincere purpose, willingness to work, enthusiasm for teaching, and genuine interest in students as individuals. These vital qualities the Tech faculty, as a whole, has to a degree unusual among college or university faculties, as students who have gone to other schools have frequently commented. The teamwork and loyalty of the faculty played an important part in the accreditation of Tech's senior college program in the minimum amount of time.

The strength of the faculty points inevitably toward a greater and greater Arkansas Tech of the future.

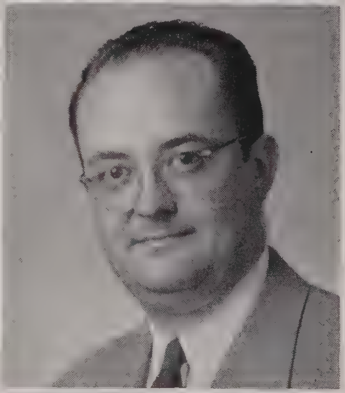
Head of Biology Department and Associate Professor of Biology.

B. A., Henderson State Teachers College, 1943; M. S., University of Arkansas, 1947; additional graduate study, Oklahoma A. & M. College.



Mr. Burnett wasn't very hungry. His football team plagued by more than their share of injuries and less than their share of returning lettermen had just been subjected to a stunning defeat by the underdog—College of the Ozarks. Caught in a moment of reflection, we wonder what the Coach's thoughts are.

Ernest C. McDonald

Associate Professor of Business Administration

B. S., Northeastern Oklahoma State College, 1938; M. S., Oklahoma A. & M. College, 1941; additional graduate study, Oklahoma A. & M. College and University of Oklahoma.

A. B., Ouachita College, 1915; M. A., University of Oklahoma, 1919; additional graduate study, Columbia University, Alliance Francaise, University of Dijon, University of Paris.

Mr. Merrill and Mr. Crabaugh are caught in the act of drinking coffee out of their own special mugs or steins. There is a certain group of faculty members that make several trips to the Techionery every day for coffee and conversation. It seems that these particular individuals did not prefer to drink coffee from a waxpaper cup, so they took up a collection and raised enough funds with which they could buy mugs. A student (Felix Dunagan) then graciously painted their names on their respective mugs — free of charge of course.

Alice H. Rollow

Instructor in Speech

B. A., Huntington College, 1945; M. A., University of Southen California, 1950.

John E. Rollow

Assistant Professor of English

B. A., University of Arkansas, 1935; M. A., University of Arkansas, 1947; additional graduate study, University of Southern California.

PAUL D. SHULTZ

Chairman of Fine Arts Division

Mr. Shultz, Professor of Music, is on leave of absence to study at Tulsa University. B. M., Henderson-Brown College, 1929; graduate study, Henderson State Teachers College, Theodore Bohlman School of Music, Boguslawski College of Music, Christiansen Choral School, Tulsa University.

Mort E. Smith

Head of Art Department and Assistant Professor of Art

B. S., Kansas State Teachers College, 1935; M. A., Colorado State College of Education, 1940; additional graduate study, State University of Iowa.

Paul F. Tjensvold

Assistant Professor of Sociology and Economics

A. B., University of California, 1928; B. D., Pacific School of Religion, 1932; S. T. M., Pacific School of Religion, 1935; Th. D., Pacific School of Religion, 1936; M. A., University of Southern California, 1947.

A. S. TURNER

Chairman of Division of Engineering

Melvern Watson

Assistant Professor of Agriculture

B. S. A., University of Arkansas, 1947; M. S., Oklahoma A. & M. College, 1950.

VIRGINIA SUE WILLIAMSON

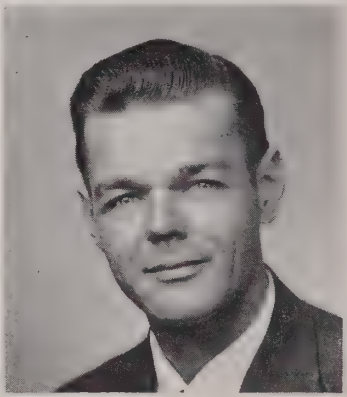
Acting Chairman of Fine Arts Division

Miss Williamson, Assistant Professor of Music, holds this position in the absence of Paul D. Shultz, Chairman of the Division. B. M., North Texas State Teachers College, 1943; M. M., North Texas State Teachers College, 1947; additional graduate study, Northwestern University and Eastman School of Music.

R. R. WEEDIN

Chairman of Division of Business Administration

Mr. Weedin is also Associate Professor of Business Administration and has been at Tech since 1946. B. S., University of Arkansas, 1936; M. S., Oklahoma A. & M. College, 1948; additional graduate study, Indiana University.



Gene Witherspoon

Band Director

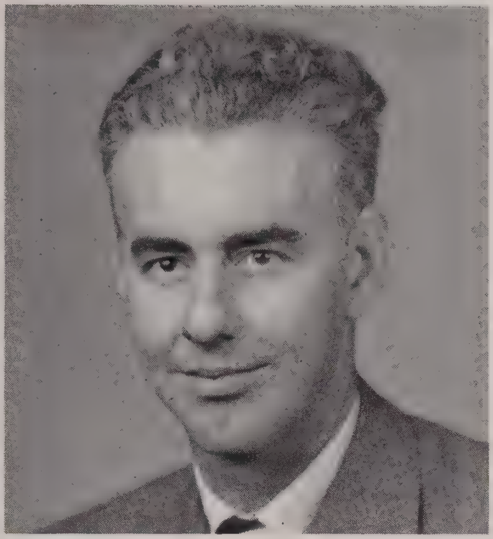
B. S. E., University of Arkansas, 1943; graduate study, University of Arkansas.

Marvin Williamson

Instructor in Music

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill and son and Mrs. Burgess (in the background) are interested in Mr. Turrentine's speech at the first student "get together" on the lawn out in front of Caraway Hall. This was after a picnic supper for the entire student body and faculty held during the first week of school.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION STAFF



Recognizing the needs of large groups of young men for training in skilled trades, the Division of Vocational Education at Arkansas Polytechnic College offers courses in woodworking (both carpentry and cabinet making), auto mechanics, and machine shop.

These non-credit courses, terminal in nature, are designed to enable the student to progress individually to gain the necessary proficiency as quickly as possible so that he may take his place in productive industry.

Arkansas Polytechnic College has complete and modern workshops for training students in woodworking, auto mechanics, and machine shop. Through donation and purchase of machines and equipment released by the United States Army, the College has been able to expand greatly its training facilities in those fields. Equipment in the various shops is valued at more than $200,000.

While the College does not guarantee placement of its vocational graduates, it maintains an employment advisory service to assist in placing such graduates in suitable employment.

FAULDS, VINCENT R.

Chairman of the Vocational Education Program

Mr. Faulds is Assistant Professor of Industrial Education. He holds degrees of: B. A. E., University of Florida, 1939; M. Ed., University of Missouri, 1949; additional graduate study, University of Missouri.

A wonderful picture of the chemistry lab showing young people working and learning together in good surroundings and with the best of equipment. All the girls and boys met at the Caraway lounge one evening after supper for a party. Every one had a wonderful time and it seems as though this group around the piano is exercising its vocal chords in a little harmonic gymnastics.

Class Sponsor

I suppose every member of the faculty has, at one time or another, been faced with the realization that it might become his privilege to serve as a sponsor of some student group. It is really quite a nice feeling to know that some organization or class has, after careful consideration, decided it would have you as its sponsor in preference to anyone else.

It was early this Fall when I was informed that I, in preference to all the rest of the faculty, had been chosen sponsor of the Junior Class. THE JUNIOR CLASS! The class that finances the Junior-Senior Banquet, the class that finances the Junior-Senior Prom, the class that buys a float, the class that . . . I broke out in a cold sweat. That night I tried to put myself to sleep by counting Juniors instead of sheep — there were fifty-six. I went to sleep counting Seniors — there were ninety-six.

At the time this is being written we are still looking desperately for finances, but I have confidence that the Junior Class will come through. In fact, I feel sure that any faculty member would be more than pleased to be the sponsor of this fine group of students next year because of their wonderful spirit of cooperation and unfailing dependability — besides they'll be Seniors next year!

A very familiar sight — people going through one of the many doors on the campus, one of the many doors leading to a classroom or a lab. The reason is the same though the year or individuals might differ. There are doors such as this one on every campus in the United States, and although their outward appearances may not be the same — though one might be ivy covered marble and another modernistic steel and glass, they all lead to halls of learning. There are students such as these going through them day after day, month after month, year after year, with the intention of attending a lecture or taking an examination. It all adds up to the same result—happier, more complete lives, and a stronger America.

How many scenes such as this are seen by instructors every day? A classroom of expressions, attitudes, and potentialities, preparing for future adventures in agriculture. What are they making in chemistry today!

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

"Pommes de terre sont bon."—MOLIERE

AUTO MECHANICS

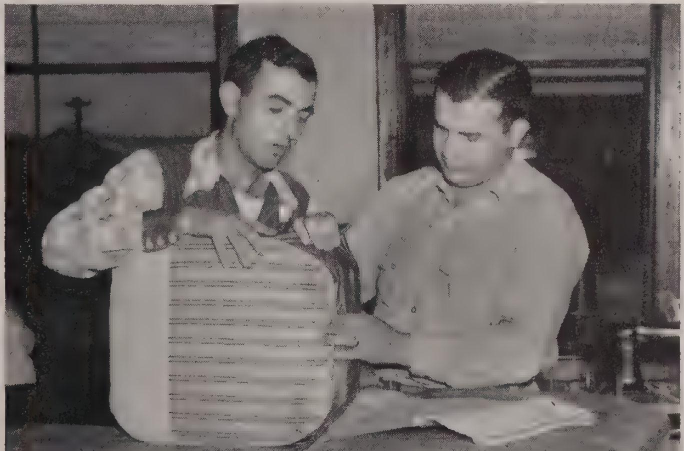
Vocational training at Tech has been carried on since the College was established. In 1935, the National Youth Administration launched a vocational training program, and Tech was selected as one of the centers for this work. NYA students were housed in a newly constructed group of buildings, and vocational work was carried on from 1935 to 1942. At the conclusion of the war, the shop was opened to train veterans, and a large amount of new equipment has been added.



Arkansas Polytechnic College has always tried to meet needs in the educational training of as many people as possible in Arkansas and especially in this section of the state. To do this Tech is now, as in the past, giving training to many people who are not regular college students. Many of the students are disabled veterans, but a number are not veterans. They come to Tech because it offers something they cannot obtain elsewhere.

The Auto-Mechanics course has usually had the largest enrollment of the three courses offered in the Vocational Training Program. This course completely covers general Auto-Mechanics and also allows students to get special training in parts of the course where they want and need it. These specialized areas include such things as body and fender repair, radiator repair, engine rebuilding, brakes, tune-up, ignition, etc. The auto shop is equipped with the latest machines and auxiliary equipment, and is completely departmentalized.

Jesse Lee Cassey and John Stewart are shown upstairs in the upholstery department above the auto shop. These men specialize in all types of auto upholstery.

B. D. Stracner, Tester Whitley, O. C. Marlar, and S. G. Reed are in the body and fender repair shop. This shop has done some of the finest repair work seen anywhere.

M. D. Nichols, A. L. Carter, J. E. McGuire, Morris Morgan, and G. M. Womack are gathered around a rebuild job. They are grinding the crankshaft on this one.

Sloan Youngblood, J. U. Wooten, Eugene Smith, R. D. Newsom, and Fred Furr are pictured in the engine rebuild department. They are giving a valve job to this motor.

W. C. Smith, Lloyd Rudder, and H. E. Hottinger are giving an overhaul job to one of the many automobiles that are brought to the shop every week.

Roy Hassel, Joe Apple, and James V. Murton are shown in the body repair department. They are inspecting the results of a recent collision. The body repair department specializes in completely redoing virtually ruined bodies.

R. A. Cowen, B. E. Goates, Bobby Emery, Harold Hottinger, and R. T. Pate are pictured in the steam room where parts are cleaned and radiators are repaired.

H. H. Chance, W. R. Freeman, W. G. Chance, Troy Rogers, Buddy Keeton, Haskell Burks, K. L. Wirth, and W. J. Karriker all gather together outside the parts window for their picture. This part of the shop is the tune-up department.

MACHINE SHOP

The Machine Shop training course is becoming increasingly important with the defense program calling for more and more men trained in this field. The machine shop is one of the largest and most complete in this section of the country. Here the student finds himself working with nearly a quarter of million dollars worth of equipment, and he may learn to use practically any kind of a machine commonly employed in industry. Students in this course learn to set-up and operate all of these basic machines usually found in industrial plants.

Since the enrollment in the Veterans Training Program is steadily decreasing due to the cut-off date for training under the G. I. Bill, plans are being made to utilize the equipment and staff of the Vocational Department.

A plan to set up an area trade school in conjunction with the high schools of this area is being worked out at the present time. The proposal is to include Jr. and Sr. students who desire this type of training. They will attend shop classes at Tech for half of each day. The other half day will be spent in the regular high schools in which they are enrolled, taking the other courses which are necessary for graduation.

This plan is still tentative, but should be definitely decided upon before our next school year. The proposed plan has the whole-hearted support of all the superintendents in this area and the State Department of Education as well.

Several other proposals for utilizing our equipment and personnel are being considered, but are too tentative a nature to warrant a definite statement at the present time.

This is a view of the south end of the machine shop. The men running the machinist lathes are W. A. Murphy, Grady Harris, Harvey Severn, Vernon Ruble, W. L. Penner, and Lawrence Edwards.

The two men in front are Lawrence Wooten and H. F. Summers. They and the three in back (Willie Goswick, James Poynter, and Floyd McClain) are shown running a large surface grinder.

Much welding is done in the repair or manufacture of metal parts. These men are shown doing some acetylene torch work. From left to right, they are J. D. Williams, E. G. Horne, and J. T. Hood.

WOODWORKING

Beautiful examples of fine workmanship are produced everyday in the woodworking department. Surrounding the fine chest that has just been completed are: Wilburn Hern, Curtis Bishop, Paul Raley, Don Hudson, and Archie Miller.

The College has three shops, all equipped and staffed for different fields of training. The program requires two years to complete, but many of the students find that they are ready to take a job in private industry long before they have finished the prescribed course. General education as well as technical education is an important part of the Vocational Program. Students who have not finished high school are given training in English, math, and drawing, leading to a high school diploma. Those students who have a diploma are allowed to take any courses in college which they need or want.

The Woodworking course, like the Auto-Mechanics course, offers general training and the chance to get special training in several areas. These areas include building construction, millwork, cabinet making, upholstery, finishing, etc. As the shop is departmentalized, the trainee moves from one department to another as he learns different phases of the work. At the beginning of the course, he spends his time with rough work, gradually progressing to finishing and upholstering on some of the finest furniture.

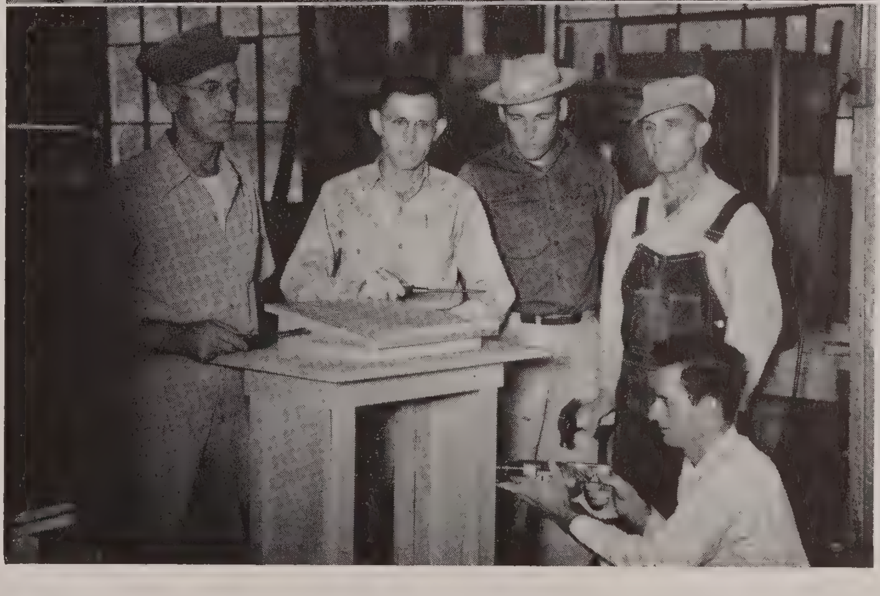
George Mayhue, Harold Bowden, and Leonard Howard are standing by the circle saw. This powerful saw is used for ripping.

Lonnie Connor is shown at the woodworking lathe and Frank Alverson and Matthew Humphrey pause for a moment in their work on the mortising machine.

These men are assembling a speaker's stand. The next step in its production will be the finishing. Pictured are William Kreinbring, E. Courtwright, Laurence Wooten, Ernest Jones, and Iverson Keener.



These men are shown in the upholstery department. Fine quality work is done here on all kinds of furniture. (Front row) William H. Tate and Burthel Cook. (Back row) Eldon Watkins, Homer Bettis, B. L. Patrick, and John Dombeck.

Leon Goddard, Willie Wheeler, Joe Dixson, and Joseph Phillips are shown pausing a moment from their work in the finishing department. The men in the woodworking department have the privilege of actually designing their own particular project on the drawing table with the able assistance of Mr. Hale and then carrying it through every step of manufacture to the completion. Thereby they have a work of original craftsmanship which they can call their own.

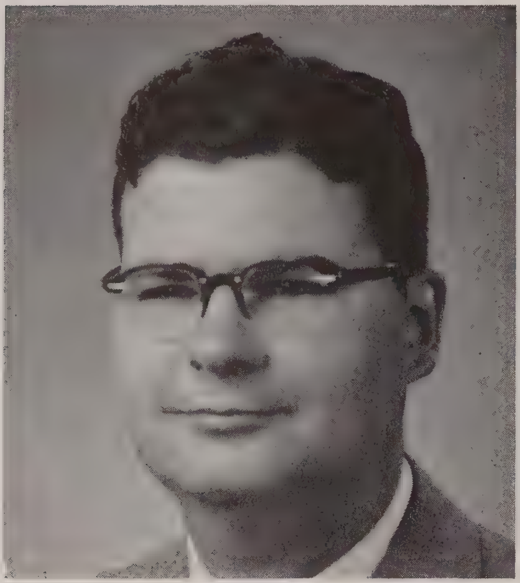
STUDENT COUNCIL



Bob Pendleton
President

The Student Council, the student governing body at Tech, is composed of a president, elected by all the students, and representatives, elected by the divisional groups. It is concerned with all matters of student welfare, particularly with enriching and making more enjoyable student life on the Tech campus. It has representatives on numerous faculty committees. Through the co-operation of the Student Council and the faculty the best interests of all the students are served. The Student Council operates under a Constitution adopted by the students of Arkansas Tech, which is published in the Arka-Tech each fall for the information of all students.

Every girl enrolled in Arkansas Tech is automatically a member of the Association of Women Students. Officers are elected each year by secret ballot. The officers compose the A. W. S. Executive Council, which strives for more pleasant relations between all the girls, and between the girls, faculty, and administration.

The first week of school the A. W. S. sponsored "Open House," which was held in Caraway Hall. Every girl was introduced to every boy, dancing and singing were encouraged, and refreshments were served.

In October, the A. W. S. sponsored a very informal "Pajama Party," held in the lounge of Caraway Hall. Every girl enrolled at Tech was invited to attend. Parker Hall and Faculty Dormitory each presented a stunt, and Caraway Hall presented one stunt from each floor.

The Executive Council, encouraged by the Administration, put into effect a program to encourage better scholarship for those girls who did not have a 2.00 grade average.

A. W. S. President Susie West was elected to ride the A. W. S. convertible in the Homecoming Parade. The convertible was decorated by the girls in Caraway Hall.

To climax the year, the A. W. S. sponsored the election of the "Lady of the Apple Blossom," in which every girl was urged to vote. The ballot was made up of four outstanding senior girls. These girls were Nita Wyatt, Virginia Daniels, Evelyn Flower, and Susie West. Susie received the honor.

The Agri Club, one of the oldest clubs on the campus, is one of the most active. This club endeavors to participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of Agriculture, to develop leadership, to give its members the opportunity for self-expression, and to participate in cooperative effort. In cooperation with the Home Economics Club it sponsors Agri Day, a red-letter day at the college, and the annual FFA-FHA meet for high school students. During the spring of 1949 the Agri Club raised money to establish a student loan fund to assist worthy students. Each year the club sponsors activities to increase the loan fund capital. Membership in the club is open to the students enrolled in Agriculture.

Activity is the keynote of the Engineers' Club. It encourages good scholarship, college activities, loyalty, and professional ethics. The club sponsors Engineers' Day, the activities including exhibits and special programs, the engineering edition of the student paper, and the annual banquet and dance. It also sponsors a Christmas dance. It has a small loan fund to which its members contribute each year and from which many loans have been made to members. It meets twice each month and membership is limited by a scholarship requirement.

WHO'S WHO

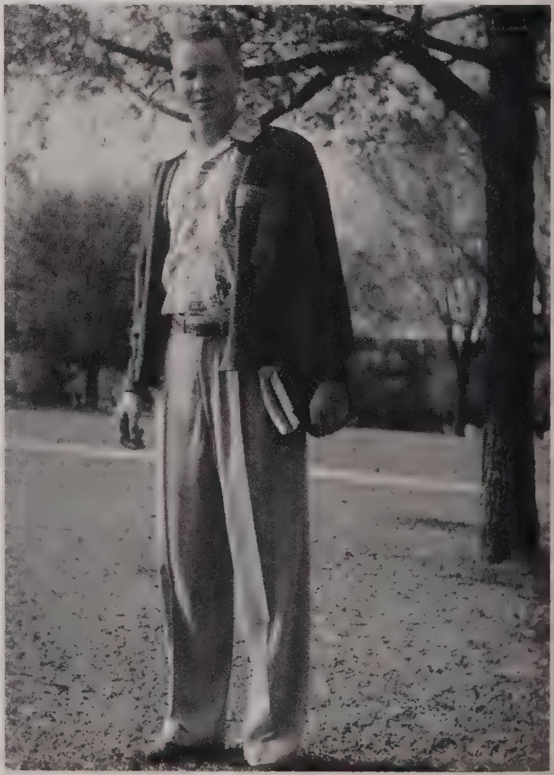
The students selected for this recognition were officially recommended by the college and were accepted by the organization. Consideration was given to the student's excellence and sincerity in scholarship; his leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities and academic activities; his citizenship and service to the school; and his promise of future usefulness to business and society. Juniors and seniors only are eligible for this honor.

JAMES C. BOHANNON is a senior Education major from Mulberry. James, who is president of the F.T.A., is athletic trainer for the Wonder Boys, and a member of the Dean's List. He is a member of the History Club and "T" Club, and served as vice-president of the Junior Class.

GEORGE CROSBY is a senior from Russellville enrolled in the Division of Social Studies. He is a member of the Tech Theatre Guild, a member of the A Cappella Choir and Male Quartet, and master of ceremonies of a record show entitled "Mood Time Melodies." He participated in tennis, was a member of the Arka-Tech staff, and was named in the campus Who's Who Contest. George was also awarded a four year Ministerial Scholarship to Tech.

BILLY BERT BAKER is a junior Education major from Gilbert. He has played basketball for three years and made the 1951 All-State second team. Billy Bert has served as a member of the Student Council, treasurer of F. T. A., secretary-treasurer of the "T" Club, president and reporter of the Wesley Foundation, and president of the Sophomore Class. He also has participated in track and Intramural sports, and was named in the campus Who's Who Contest.

VORIS E. JOHNSON, senior Education major from North Little Rock, has contributed much to the sports program at Tech. He is an all-round athlete, participating in football, basketball, baseball, and track. Voris who is president of the "T" Club has made the All-State football third team and the All-State baseball second team. In his sophomore and junior years he was named in the campus Who's Who Contest.

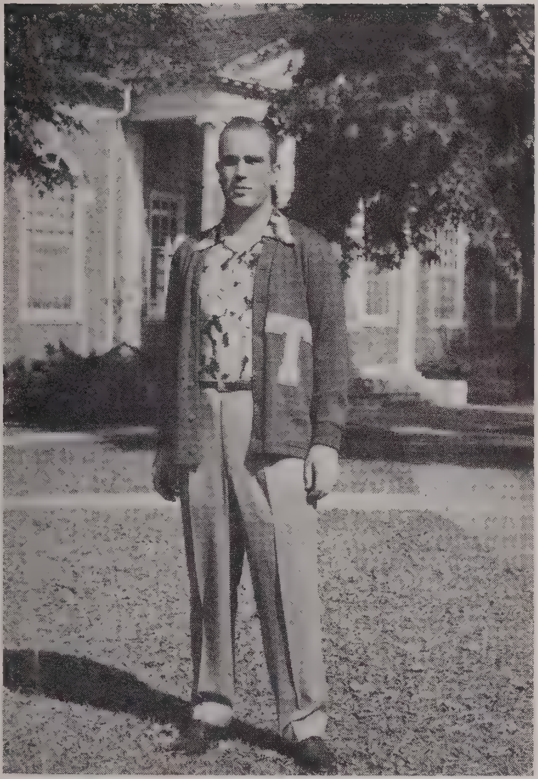


MARY JO CRAIG is an Education major from Russellville. Homecoming Queen of 1950, cheerleader, vice-president of the History Club, and secretary of the F. T. A. are only a few of Mary Jo's accomplishments. She is also senior representative of the A. W. S., member of the Commencement Committee and of the Dean's list. In her freshman year she was named in the campus Who's Who Contest.

IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

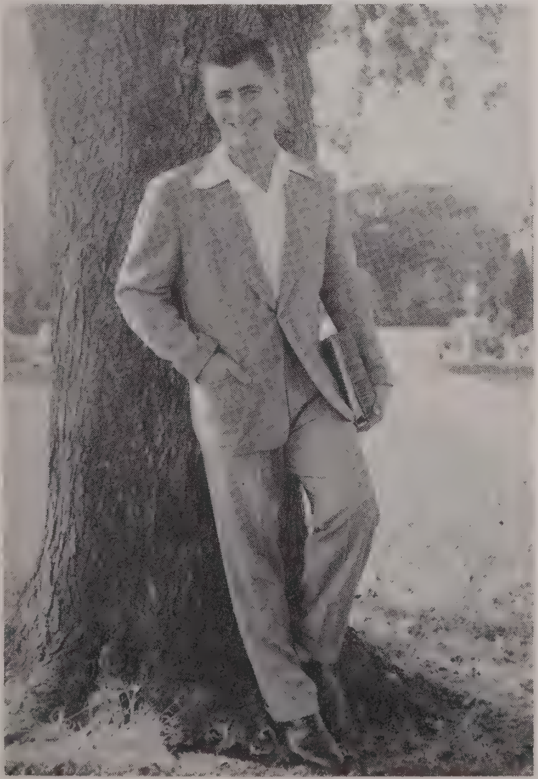
"Le potage est tres chaud." — DALADIER

NITA M. WYATT is a senior from Calico Rock. She is enrolled in the Education Division. Nita, a consistent six-point student, is a member of the Senior Honor Society as well as of the Dean's List. In her sophomore year she received the AAUW award for scholarship.

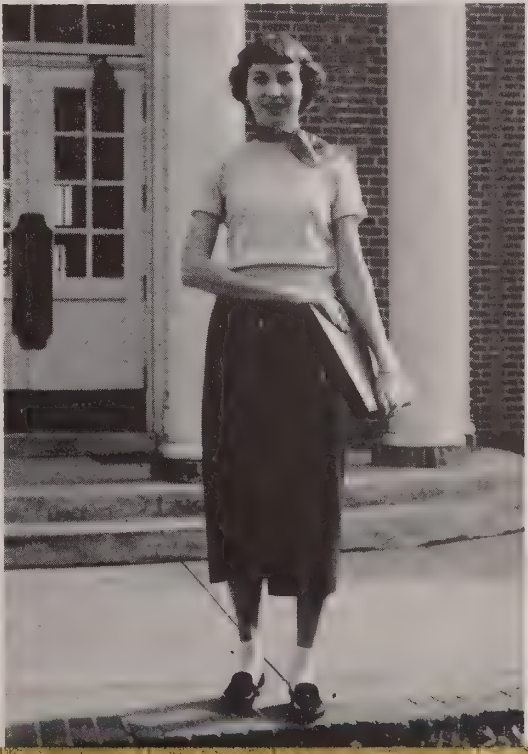


LLOYD L. KOONTZ of Burdette is a senior Science and Mathematics major. Lloyd has played football four years and received honorable mention in All-State Football. He is a Senior Honor Society member, reporter of the "T" Club, and on the Improvement of Instruction Committee. Lloyd has also been a member of the Agri Club, Engineers' Club, F. T. A., and has played baseball.

MARION UNDERHILL of Beebe is a senior Education major. During his stay at Tech, he has been active in the sports program. Marion has participated in baseball, boxing, and Intramural sports. He is sports editor of the Arka-Tech, director of sports publicity, and a member of the "T" Club. He has also served as vice-president of the Junior Class and reporter of the F. T. A.



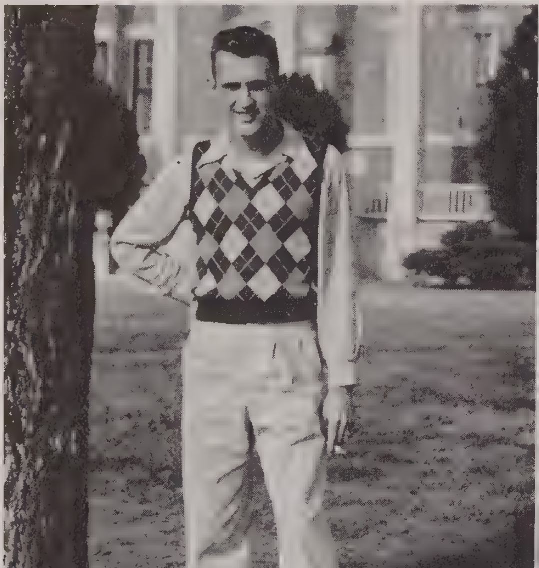
TOM WILSON is a senior Language and Literature major from Yellville. He has served as editor, assistant editor, and sports editor of the Arka-Tech. He is sports editor of the Agricola, vice-president of the History Club, a member of the Student Council, and of the Disciplinary and Publications Committees. For the past four years he has been very active in Intramural sports.



SUSIE WEST, senior Education major from Russellville, has participated in a variety of activities at Tech. She holds the A. W. S. honor, "Lady of the Apple Blossom." She is president of the A. W. S., secretary of the Senior Class, F. T. A. reporter, member of the Counseling and Guidance Committee, on the Agricola Staff, and an apprentice member of the Tech Theatre Guild. Susie participated in the Tech Varsity Show, was a member of the band and Arka-Tech staff, and was named in the campus Who's Who Contest.

BOB PENDLETON, senior B. A. major from Fort Smith, is Student Council President. Active in many campus activities, Bob is a member of the Senior Honor Society, B. A. Club, and an apprentice member of the Tech Theatre Guild. He served as president of the Junior Class and participated in the 1950-51 Tech Varsity Show.

DOYLE KENT RICE, Cotter, is a senior enrolled in the Social Studies Division. He has held positions on the Arka-Tech staff for two years. He is a member of the Wesley Foundation, A Cappella Choir, and of the Publications Committee. Kent also participated in Intramural sports and tennis.



BILL SHAVER is a senior Fine Arts major from Van Buren. Bill has been active in various campus activities and especially music. He has been Student Director of the Band for four years, member of the A Cappella Choir, Male Quartet, and of the Tech Orchestra. He served as president of the Choir for two years and participated in the Tech Varsity Show.

DAVID SHAW, Lonoke, is a senior in the Social Studies Division. David, 1952 Agricola Editor, has been active in Little Theatre productions and is president of the Tech Theatre Guild. He is vice-president of the Senior Honor Society, an All-State Track man, a member of the A Cappella Choir, the "T" Club, and the Counseling and Guidance Committee. He has been a member of the Arka-Tech staff and of the Debating Team, named in the campus Who's Who Contest, and was assistant editor of the 1951 Agricola.

CALENDAR

"Les singes sont drolles." — MALROUX

Dad's Day

Five hundred parents attended Dad's Day, October 13, to help Tech observe its 25th annual day in honor of parents of Tech students. The day's activities included registration, a tour of the campus, lunch in the Dining Hall, a special assembly program, and Open House in Caraway Hall. The festivities were climaxed by the Wonder Boys winning their 25th Dad's Day football game which was against Edmund, Oklahoma.

The chow line was a block long and the dining hall was filled to capacity. Moms, Dads, and students ate chicken and rolls.

A scene from the assembly program. The girls and the mens quartet are taking part in a "take-off" on the first Dad's Day.

Cowboys, buccaneers, gypsies, Caesars and pirates all get a kick out of the dance.

Halloween Party

Each year the B.A. club sponsors a Halloween party. Everyone tries to out-do their friends when they make up their costumes and all types of historic persons are represented from Santa Claus to the Big Bad Wolf. Usually by the end of the evening the angels have lost their wings and the devils have lost their horns at these parties and we are happy to say that it turned out that way — it was a very successful evening. Martha Jones was chosen Queen of the dance.

The couple take time out for refreshments. Notice "Santy" is fixing the angel's halo.

Ted Rogers and Susie Fullerton were voted the best dressed in the spirit of the Bowery. Bohannon smiles.

Billy Bob thought that he could really play the trombone so he proceeded to prove it.

Looks faked doesn't it.

Bowery Ball

The Tech Armory took on the appearance of "Basin Street" when the FTA staged their annual Bowery Ball, January 11. The Tech orchestra furnished the "Dixieland" which helped pave the road to a legitimate crossing to the other side of the tracks for Tech students and faculty.

Ah — for the good old days of the Bowery again! You just ain't lived till you been to a Bowery Ball.

Agri Day

Agri Day, May 6, is a red-letter day for the Agri Club and the Home Economics Club as well as for the college. Each year Agri Day is held during the first week of May. This celebration includes such events as the traditional May Pole Dance, the coronation of the king and queen, a special assembly program, exhibits, and the annual dance, which closes the day's activities. The celebration of Agri Day is the product of many days of work and preparation done by the two clubs.

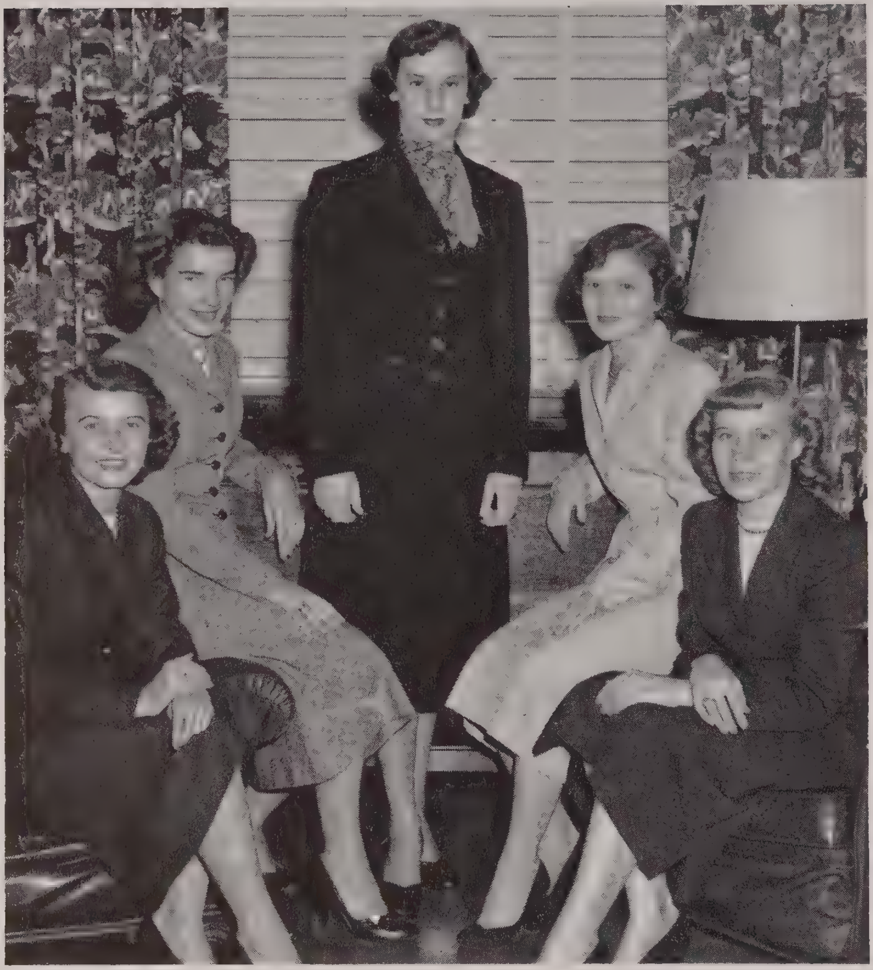
HOMECOMING



Miss Betty Owens, sophomore B. A. major from Batesville, received a much sought after honor when she was chosen "1951 Homecoming Queen" by the "T" Club. During Queen Betty's reign she rode the "T" Club float in the Homecoming Parade, graced the royal box at the football game, received statewide publicity, and was crowned in pre-game ceremonies by Lieutenant Governor Nathan Gordon.

Everyone was down at the Armory working feverishly the night before Homecoming in a last mad attempt to finish the floats.

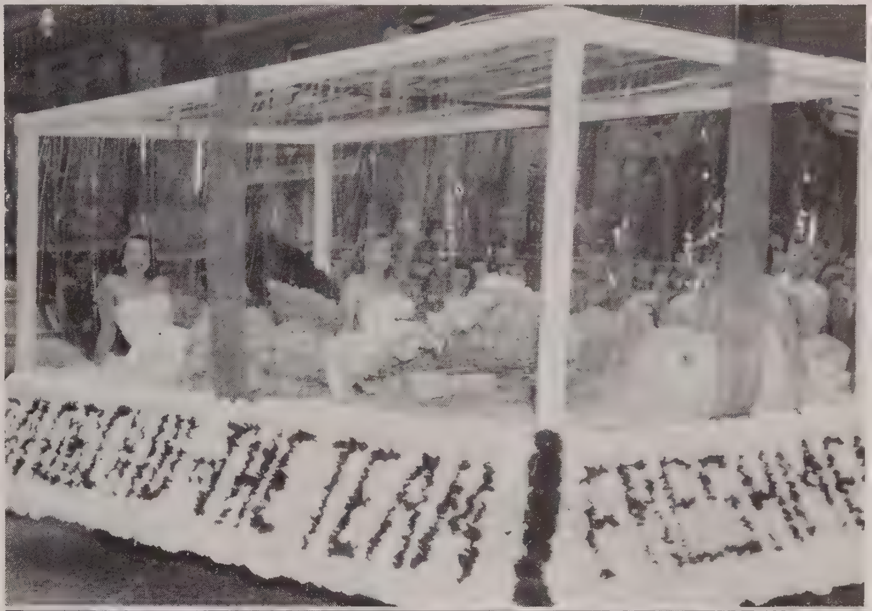
Hmmmmn. Well I do see two working on the B. A. float in the upper left hand corner.

WELCOME ALUMNI
THE BEN STORE
WELCOME

Over 300 alumni attended Tech's 23rd annual Homecoming celebration, November 10. Every class since 1910, the year of Tech's origination, was represented for the first time in the college's history. The dance featuring the Tech Orchestra ended the festivities consisting of the parade, the coronation of the queen, the football game with Henderson, and the coffee hour for the alumni.

Queen Betty's coronation took place preceding the game. The Queen was escorted across the football field by Student Council President, Bob Pendleton. Other members of the Student Council served as escorts for the maids. Lieutenant Governor Nathan Gordon crowned Queen Betty and then she was escorted to her royal box by Football Captain Voris Johnson. The Lieutenant Governor is shown watching Miss Owens receive her kiss just after the coronation.

The Freshmen float took the prize money with its unique design. The theme, "An orchid to the team," was carried out by a huge orchid enclosed in a cellophane box. Suzi Lewis was seated in the orchid flanked by Dixie Hopkins and Bennie Daniels.



THE TEAM
FRESHMEN

The night preceding the big day we had a huge pep rally, torch parade, and bonfire. Students are shown riding on trucks which took them downtown to the rendezvous.

The "rebels" marched in cadence down Main Street reminding everyone that the Christmas Dance was coming.

ANNUAL Christmas DANCE
ARK TECH ENGINEERS
SAVE YOUR CONFEDERATE MONEY THE SOUTH WILL RISE AGAIN

Christmas Dance

The pre-holiday festive mood is climaxed by the annual Christmas Dance sponsored by the Engineers' Club, which occurs just before the Christmas holidays begin. The "rebels" used "Christmas down South" as their theme this year, with the dance entrance depicting that of a colonial mansion and the interior featuring a huge Christmas tree and chandeliers.

The Armory was beautifully decorated for the dance with vari-colored chandeliers and nice private booths. Yes, everyone had fun at the Christmas Dance.

The Tech Orchestra played the dance and the radio station broadcast it. Bill Holland is seen on the mike between numbers.

Engineer's Day

Engineers' Day, which is annually celebrated March 17, is the big day of the year for the Tech Engineers. Much of the pageantry of St. Patrick's Day is carried out as the theme of the day — St. Patrick and Queen Patricia are crowned, the Engineers are knighted, and even the Blarney Stone plays its part in the ceremonies. A special assembly program, the Engineers' edition of the paper, and the traditional St. Patrick's Dance are also highlights of the celebration.

Bob Carney
Editor

Publications play a vital role at Arkansas Tech. The Arka-Tech, the weekly school paper, is the focusing point for news of the social, sports, and educational programs of the campus. This year the Arka-Tech was edited by the very capable Bob Carney, and Business Manager Bill Jeter worked fiendishly each week to cram the paper full of advertisements. Valuable knowledge has been gained by the entire staff as they have worked together to produce an excellent publication.

It is the wish of myself and the staff of the Agricola that this book will please you in every way possible. We are well aware of the fact that it would be very difficult to please everyone, however, that has been our goal from the first day of production. You, the student of Arkansas Tech, the person for whom the book is published, have been foremost in our minds throughout the year. We have attempted to give equal consideration to every club, organization, activity, and individual on the campus, and we shall feel that this year's work has been successful only if it pleases you.

RADIO

Radio-minded Tech students have an opportunity to gain valuable radio experience at Tech as the facilities of Radio Station KXRJ are located on the campus in the Fine Arts building. These students prepare and present three programs—a record show, a request program, and a newscast.

John Garner and Dave Shaw have a gay time with their afternoon record show. This show is composed of requested Hit Parade Tunes, fan mail, wild sound effects, and take-offs on anything from soap operas to commercials. The boys have done considerable original script writing, but usually the program is strictly ad lib.

"Mood Time Melodies" (formerly "Holland's Holiday") is a nightly Tech request program featuring dreamy music. "It's forty minutes of the best on record!" according to Bill Holland who was emcee of the program when it was known as "Holland's Holiday". Since Bill left the program is now being handled by George Crosby and Jim Wood.

The Tech newscast, a fifteen minute weekly program ,is presented by Dave Shaw and Pat Jordan. This newscast features campus news events, and gives the students experience in gathering and editing news, as well as presenting it.

PART II

Dusk is the natural prelude to the second part of the book. It is after the sun has gone down and the long shadows have been replaced by the glimmering incandescent lights over the campus that the activities with which the second half of this book is concerned begin to take place. The lights go on in the fine Arts Building as the orchestra begins to practice. Noises begin to come from the Little Theatre, or on special nights a football or basketball game command all of the attention. Floats are built at night, dances are decorated for, and take place at night, and in general the campus takes on a sort of glamour which it did not possess during the day.

We feel that Gene Witherspoon fits the description of "ideal instructor", therefore we are dedicating the second part of the 1952 AGRICOLA to Mr. Witherspoon.

After five consecutive years of championship teams the Wonder Boys took a plunge. In retrospect one will notice many hard-fought games most of which were stunning defeats and a few which were victories. The most notable victory of the season was the happy win over ASTC. The majority of us will, I think, remember the the response of the administration in giving the student body a holiday on the first Monday after the game. In addition, there were a few individual standouts of the season—notably Billy Bob Elliott, Sammy May, Fay Pew, I. E. Turner, Lloyd Koontz, and Jimmy Cooke. There were a few notable plays including the touchdown return of the initial kick-off by Paul Pugh against Little Rock J. C., the forty-three yard field goal that won the game against ASTC from the toe of Jimmie Cooke. However, the outstanding thing of the season was the support that our losing team received from the student body. This in itself is proof that football can be played as a clean, exciting sport win or lose and that students of Arkansas Tech will stand behind their team if it is on its way to a sixth straight championship or when it is losing, as long as it is a fair and hard fought game.

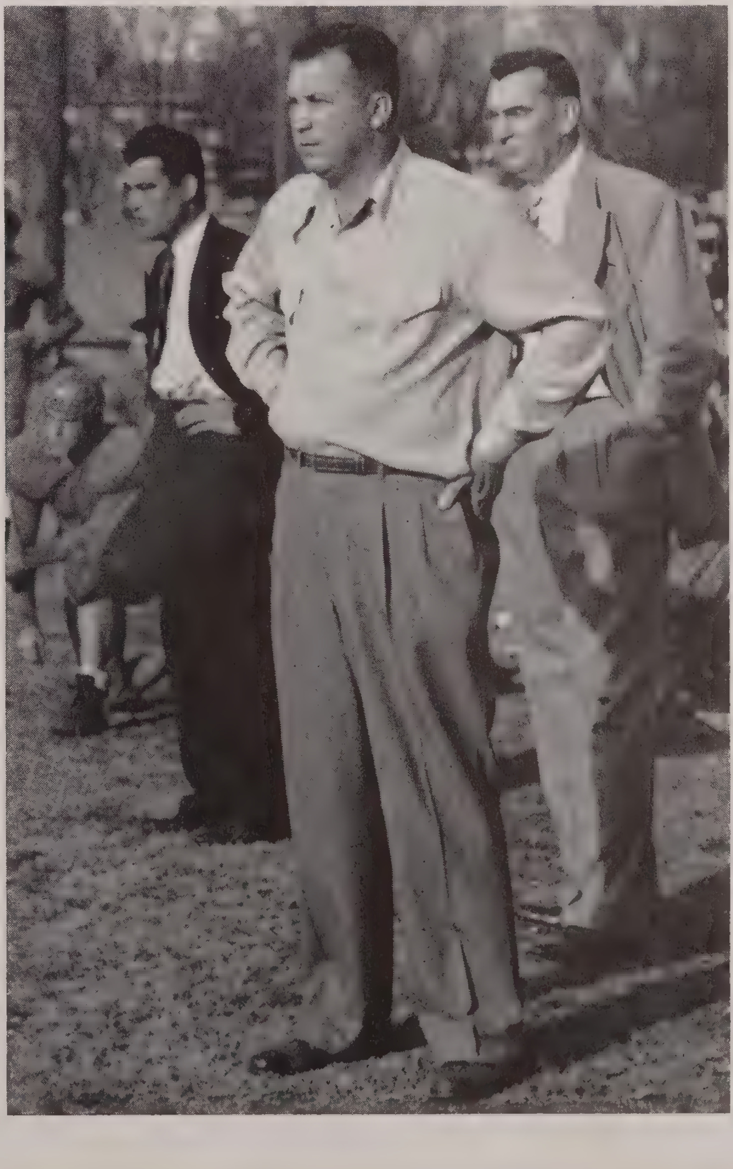
Arkansas Tech boasts quite an impressive coaching staff in the person of Raymond (Rabbit) Burnett, head coach; Firman (Nig) Bynum, assistant coach; and Fred Croom, assistant coach. These three men are caught by the camera in the last moments of the Ozarks' game when defeat was a certainty. It was late afternoon and this was the last game of the season and the Wonder Boys had been plagued by injuries and defeats throughout the year. Yet we do not see defeat in the faces of these three men, but rather a determination. Their eyes are focused on the action, but their thoughts seem to be focused on the future.



Billy Bob Elliott, powerful 205 pound senior guard, was Tech's only all-stater this year. His terrific line play, on both offense and defense, was a decisive factor in many games this year. Tech will remember Billy Bob as one of the all time linemen to wear a Wonder Boy uniform.

A Henderson Reddie hits a stone wall as I. E. Turner (54), Albert Benight (62), Bobby Gray and Fay Pew pile him up. Hugh Parker (82) is following the play and Joel Muse (57) is coming in to help. Oh, oh, it looks as if there is a penalty on the play — see the handkerchief that the referee has just thrown.

The hundreds of faces registering various degrees of emotion at a football game are, paradoxically, rarely ever seen by an observer. The reason is simply that at a time when such tension is in the air all the possible observers are themselves a part of the crowd and are seeing only the thrilling run or tackle and never think of looking at the people surrounding them. If some interested person could achieve the detachment necessary and take the time to look around himself he could not possibly see more than a mere fraction of all that was taking place about him. However, with a camera in our hands we can record the panorama of a crowd packed with emotions. We can preserve one moment of the crowd's expressions and movement with the aid of the emotionally detached lens and film. Then, later on at our leisure, we may see more than we could possibly have seen if we had taken time to look around at the scene near us, rather than at the perhaps less spectacular one occurring on the field.

Albert Benight, senior from Little Rock, played under Coach Burnett in high school. Albert was discharged just before this season after a year in service — just in time to win his third letter. He played center, guard, and tackle, and was used on both offense and defense.

Lloyd Goontz, 230 pound junior from Blytheville, played a lot of tackle for Coach Burnett this year. Lloyd is an honor student. His fine line play earned him honorable mention on the all-state selections this year.

THE SEASON 1951-52

Only eighteen lettermen greeted coaches Burnett, Bynum, and Croom when football practice began on Buerkle Field last fall. Four 1950 squadmen and twenty-four freshmen rounded out the Tech roster.

The Tech mentors worked hard preparing the green crew for the opening game with Arkansas State, September 29. This was the first meeting of these two Arkansas football powers since 1922. The Indians, who became the only team in the nation to accept two Bowl bids at the close of the season, proved too much for the inexperienced Wonder Boys, 41-6.

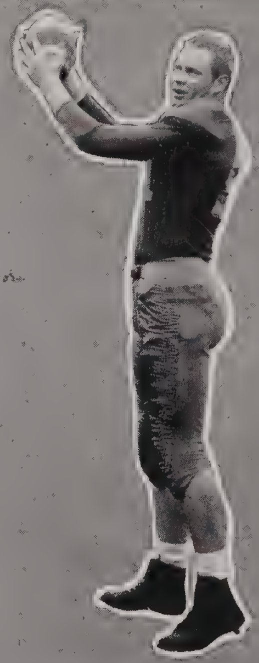
The second game on the slate was with mighty Southern State, who eventually won the AIC title. The Techsters journeyed to Magnolia and were turned back 27-7 by the Muleriders.

Then on October 13, came Dad's Day, and the only out-of-state opponent the Wonder Boys faced this year. The Bronchos from Central State College of Edmond, Okla., did their best to break the Tech tradition of never losing a Dad's Day game. It looked as if they had succeeded until Bobby Armitage tallied to overcome a 20-19 deficit with only four minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. The Wonder Boys won, 25-20.

Next for the Techsters was a trip to Conway to battle Tech's arch-rival, State Teachers. The terrific rivalry between these two schools reached its height in the pep meeting on the Teachers campus Saturday afternoon. The underdog Wonder Boys did not let the many Tech students and supporters who followed the team to Conway down. They won, 16-13, in a terrific battle climaxed by a forty-three yard field goal from the toe of freshman half-back, Jimmy Cooke. The Wonder Boys were redeemed for any former defeats. Any season when the Techsters defeat the Bears is a successful one.

Clyde Horton, 172 pound senior from Birmingham, Alabama, is one of the hardest running backs on the Tech roster, although a hand injury limited him to defensive play in most of Tech's games this year.

Jimmy King, junior from Searcy, earned his second letter this year. Jim is a fine halfback, and plays a lot of defense.



Voris Johnson, senior end from North Little Rock, is rated as one of the best pass receivers in the state. He holds letters in football, basketball, baseball, and track. Although a knee injury kept him sidelined for several games, he was on the all-state third team.

Three big ole Indian boys from Edmond, Oklahoma, ride down the Tech ball carrier in the Dad's Day game. That is one ball carrier with lots of interference. Those Indians sure are affectionate, aren't they!

On Thanksgiving the day was dull, the Wonder Boys were a little dispirited, the student body was disappointed — the score was Ozark, 34-Tech, 26.

At this point in the game the cheerleaders are getting together and deciding on the next yell to encourage the boys in efforts to stave off what turned out to be a very painful defeat.

However, it looks as if Perkie and Footsie are having a little conflict over the choice of the next yell, and it seemed as though Tech was having trouble deciding on which goal to run at — a bad, bad, day!

THE SEASON (Continued)

On October 27, the Tech clan went to Arkadelphia to play winless Ouachita Baptist College. Jimmy Cooke led the Wonder Boys to victory by running for one touchdown and passing to end Voris Johnson for another. Tech won, 12-0.

The winning days were over for Burnett's team from here on out. November was a bad month, and the Boll Weevils from Monticello A. & M. invaded Buerkle Field November 3, to start it off. They rudely defeated the Techsters, 42-13.

Tech was host to Henderson State Teachers, defending AIC champs, on Homecoming, November 10. The Reddies proved too strong, 34-7.

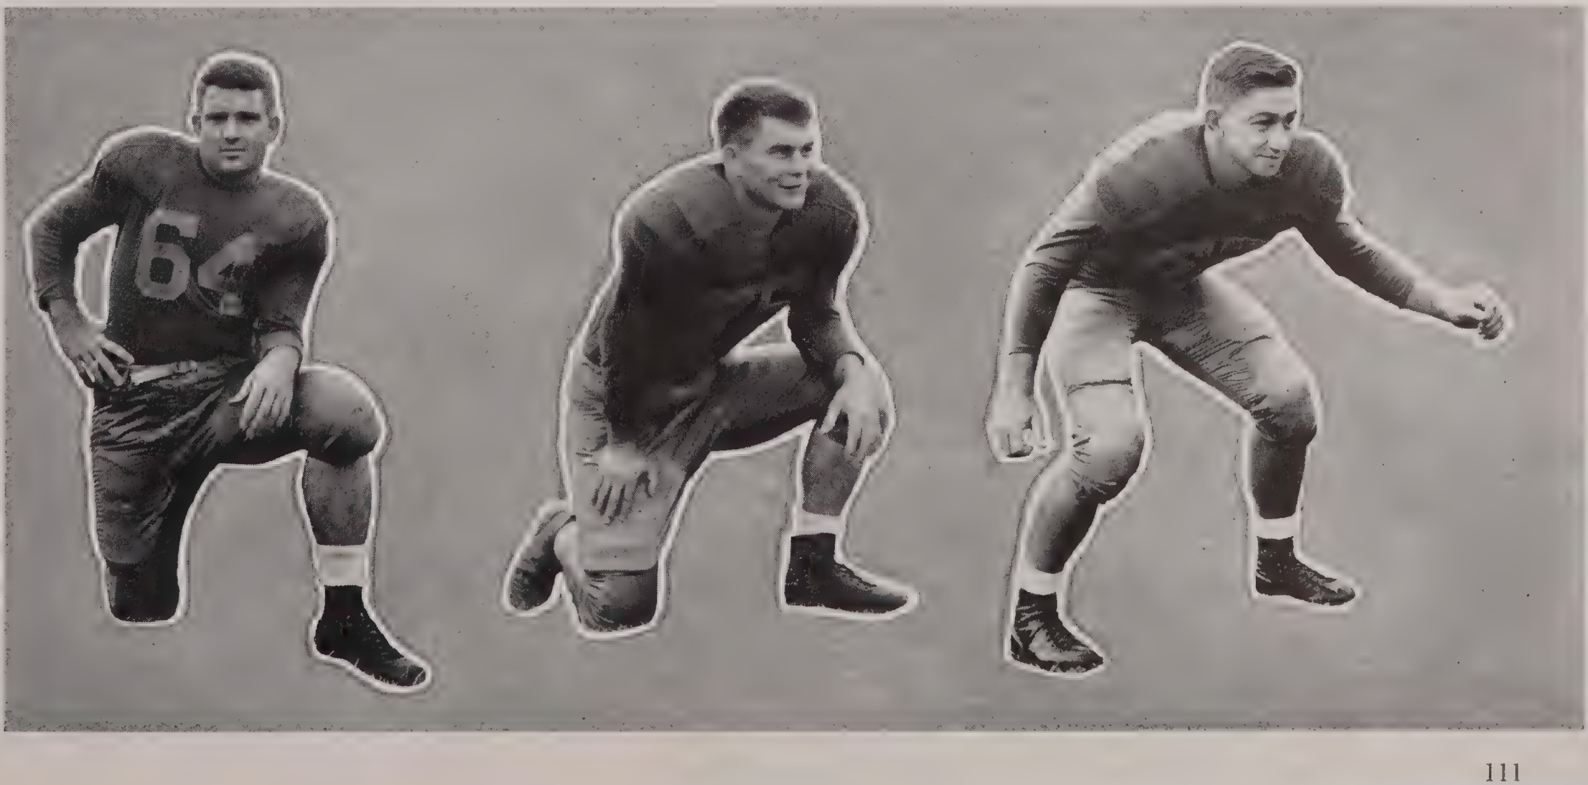
The Wonder Boys made their annual visit to War Memorial Stadium, November 17, to oppose the Trojans from Little Rock Junior College. Paul Pugh climaxed his four year career as a regular end by taking the opening kick-off all the way for a touchdown. The Tech lead was short-lived, however, as the Trojans rolled on to win, 27-7.

The finale took place on Buerkle Field Thanksgiving Day, with College of the Ozarks as the opposition. For the first time in the athletic history of the two schools, the Mountaineers triumphed, winning 34-26.

Bobby Armitage, 185-pound senior quarterback from Searcy, won his third letter this year. Bob is a hard runner, and a fine field general, as well as a top-notch defensive back.

Bill Chism, 195 pound tackle from Danville, made the starting team his first year. As you can see, from the picture, he's "much of a man."

Bob Benton, sophomore from Searcy, saw plenty of action at tackle this year. Bob is a great defensive lineman.

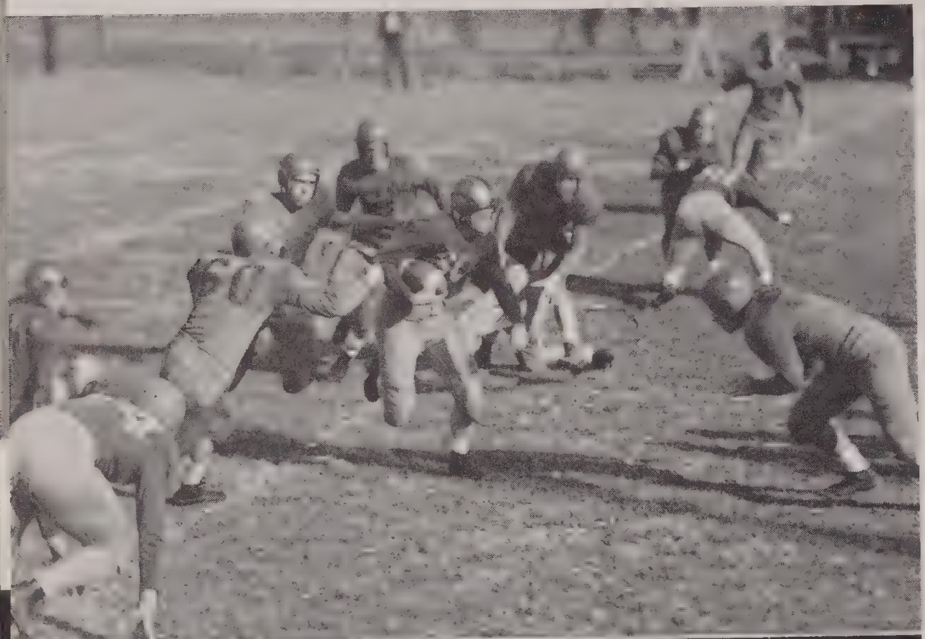


Charles Presley, watch-fob end, weighs only 170 pounds. He is a freshman from Fort Smith, and will be gunning for a starting berth next year.

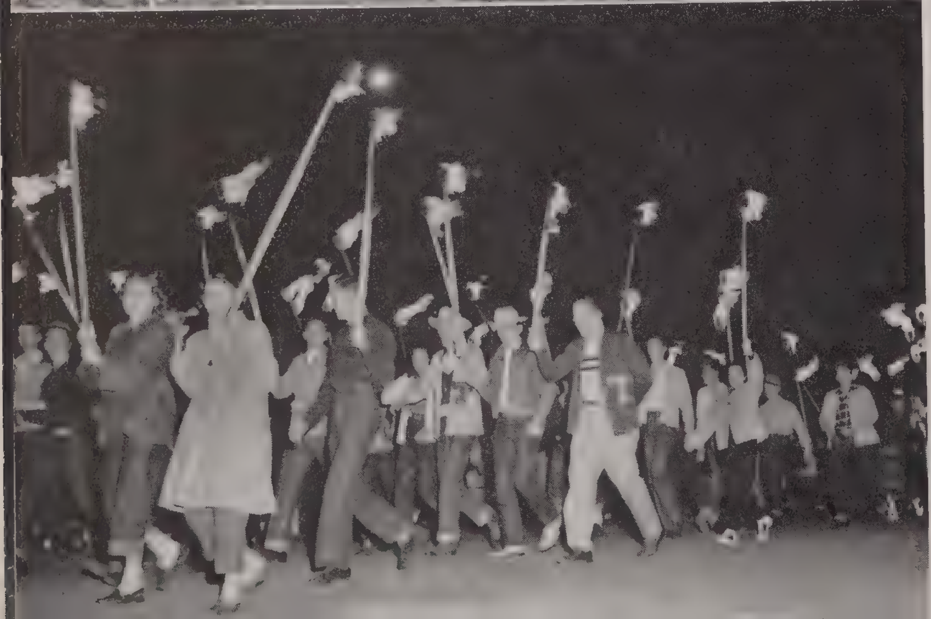
I. E. Turner, 175-pound freshman from North Little Rock, received honorable mention on the all-state selections in his first year. Speed, drive, and lots of hustle make him one of the best end prospects in the state.

Paul Pugh, 195 pound senior from Russellville, played a lot of end on both offense and defense this year. Paul has been a starter for four years and played on two state championship teams.

David Sacrey, lanky freshman from Russellville, earned his first letter this year at quarterback. Dave did most of the punting for the Wonder Boys.



Charles Presley (60), Fay Pew (90), and Joel Muse (57) close in on a College of Ozark's ball carrier in the Thanksgiving game.



Pep rallies are among those things in college life that are the longest remembered and "durn" near everybody turned out for the big torch parade that we had the night before Homecoming.

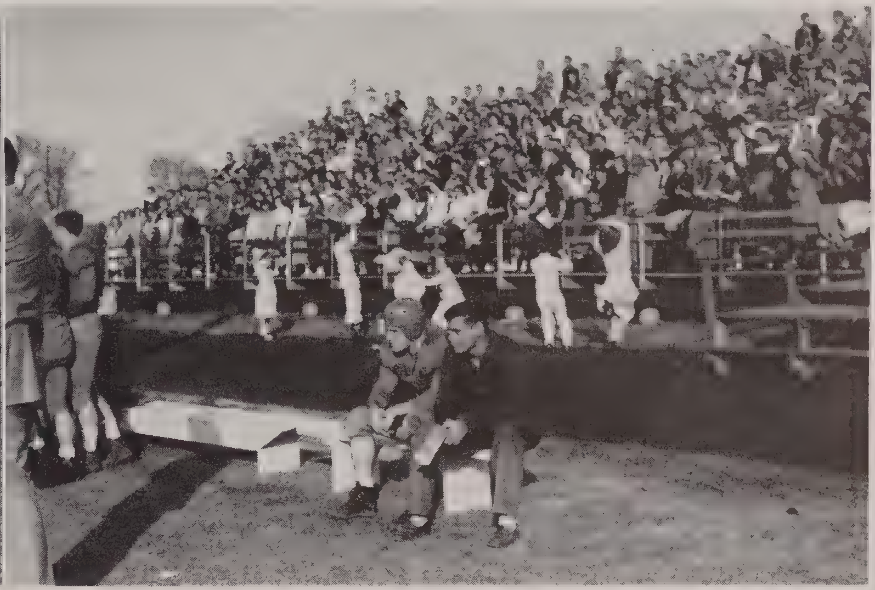
Joel Muse, seventeen year-old, 175 pound freshman from Piggott, gained the starting fullback job. Joel is a terrific line plunger, and a pillar on defense.

Jerry Nance, 170 pound junior from Jasper, was out much of the season because of a knee injury. He is one of the fastest men on the squad and a good defensive man.

Jimmy Cooke, freshman from Searcy, earned his first letter as a starting halfback. He is fast, shifty, and the best passer on the squad. He kicked most of the extra points for Tech this year.

Bob Gray, sophomore fullback from Blytheville, is a fine line-bucker. He withdrew from school to join the armed forces at the end of the first semester.

Bobby Gray (61) and Bob Benton (85) run intereference for May (46) in the Ozark game.



We were playing with half our starting line-up on the injured list and the action on the field is reflected in the expressions on the faces of Armitage and Horton. The rooters kept right on rooting though.

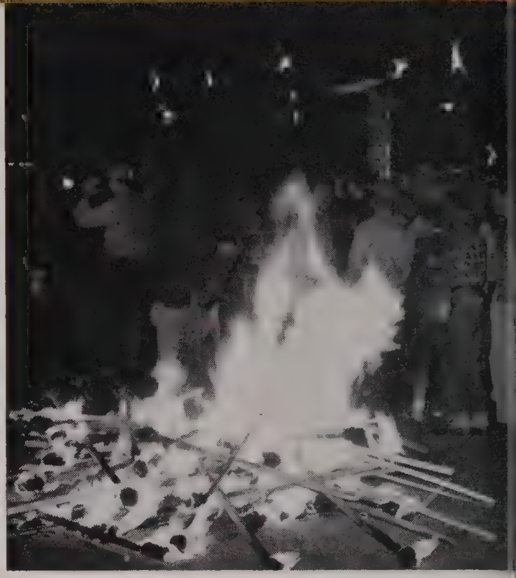
There are a lot of teeth showing in this picture. Of course the happy smiles belong to Homecoming Queen Betty Owens and her four maids. (Jan George, Pat Sugg, Susie Fullerton, and Martha Armitage.)

Fay Pew, freshman from Atkins, is probably the best linebacker on the squad, although he weighs only 165.

C. J. Richison, freshman from Fort Smith, gained honorable mention on the All-State selections at offensive center. C. J. is also one of the best linebackers on the squad.

Sammy May, freshman from Atkins weighs only 155 pounds, but is one of the best broken field runners in the conference. He received honorable mention on the All-State selections at half-back.

Hugh Parker, from Danville, is another freshman tackle who made the starting team. Hugh, a 205 pounder, showed some great line play while winning his first letter.



All of the torches were thrown into a pile in the middle of Main Street at the end of the torch parade before Homecoming.

After the torches were burned down, the cheerleaders led the yelling from the top of a big truck.

Fay Few clears the way for Sammy May in the College of Ozark's game.

Everyone just nearly got carried away with it all during the rally before Homecoming. I guess Russellville smelled like a torch for weeks afterwards.

Everyone seems to be running except the ball carrier, who if you look closely enough, is no longer carrying the ball—in fact the ball seems to be of only casual interest to everyone. Well, we won the game making our season successful. Jimmy Cooke's field goal did the job. Score—Arkansas Tech 16 — State Teachers 13.

The cheerleaders are putting their all into it, but the rooters responded with troubled expressions — that one in the middle is Susie Fullerton doing the back-bend while suspended in mid-air.

Boy! Was it cold that night. The wind was frigid, the crowd was rigid, the shutter on my camera was frozen shut, and as I came near the stove to thaw it out — that is Susie Fullerton in the middle.

The last game of the season is over and shadows are getting longer as a few people pause a minute to hear the band play its last notes.

Bill Knight, 180 pound freshman from Malvern, is being hailed as another Elliott. He is a hard-hitting guard, and considered a great prospect.

BASKETBALL

AIC CHAMPIONS 1952

As you turn the next few pages you will be reviewing part of the history of Arkansas Tech, which can be called nothing short of miraculous. Ten boys, just out of high school, stepped into the ranks of the team and filled vacancies left by such greats as Dopson, Tabor, Carmack, and Massey and ran over every opponent in the State. Wallick, Baker, and Ruff were the only veteran ball players on the team, yet these three and ten freshmen out-played, out-fought, out-faked, out-scored, and out-classed teams which had lost no important men from their squad. This team coached by Sam Hindsman fought and played its way right into the hearts of the students and faculty of Arkansas Tech. They were indeed Wonder Boys.

The results of the superb coaching of Mr. Hindsman is evident in this victory shot taken immediately after the team had won the NAIB playoff tournament in Little Rock.

Coach Hindsman does not overlook much in the making of a championship team. He is constantly encouraging team spirit which has been the deciding factor in the winning of a great many games.

Freshmen members of the team.

The pre-season crystal gazers could see nothing better than third place in the AIC basketball race for the Wonder Boys this year. The names of Dopson, Tabor, Carmack, Massey, and Collier, the men who had brought the title to Russellville for the last three years, were absent from the Tech roster when the current season opened against the Leslie Independents in Marshall, December 1. However, the Wonder Boys led by Baker, Ruff, and Wallick, the only returning lettermen, trounced the former college stars, 73-72.

The Techsters followed up this victory by defeating Beebe Junior College twice, and opened AIC play by rolling over Hendrix, 61-64, and College of the Ozarks, 58-31. Much to everyone's amazement, Coach Sam Hindsman used a two platoon system in almost every game during the season. The second platoon was made up of five freshmen, but these youngsters more than held up their end of the work.

On December 15, the Wonder Boys had their first real test, a game with the Bears of ASTC in Conway. The Bears were easy for them, 55-50. Arkansas State, the team rated as a sure title winner, came to Russellville the night school let out for Christmas vacation, but most of the student body stayed to see the Wonder Boys edge the Indians 52-50. Pint-sized Donovan Horn and big E. C. O'Neal, two freshmen who broke into the starting line-up, were too much for the Indians, and the Wonder Boys were on their way to another AIC title.

During the Christmas vacation Tech entered the Enid Invitational Tournament. Here they suffered their first defeat, losing to Ft. Hays State, 74-59. They split two more games at Enid.

The Wonder Boys opened 1952, by knocking off Monticello A. & M. and Little Rock Junior College with no difficulty. Then came the second game with the Arkansas State Indians, and another two-point victory, 61-59.

They were over the hump now, and breezed through victorious games with Henderson, Arkansas College, Southern State, Henderson again, Ouachita, Little Rock, J. C. Again, Arkansas College again, Hendrix and Monticello A. & M. without trouble.

In every life some rain must fall, and it fell on the Wonder Boys when State Teachers invaded the Tech Armory, February 16, and trounced them soundly, 74-59. This was the only conference defeat the Wonder Boys suffered.

The rest of the regular season was anti-climactic with the Tech clan breezing through the three remaining games on the schedule without difficulty.

The representative from Arkansas to the NAIB Tournament in Kansas City, was decided by a tournament in Little Rock this year, and the four leading teams, Tech, State Teachers, Southern State, and Arkansas State were invited. The Wonder Boys downed Southern State 66-56 in the first game, and gained sweet revenge by rolling over State Teachers in the finals, 50-39.

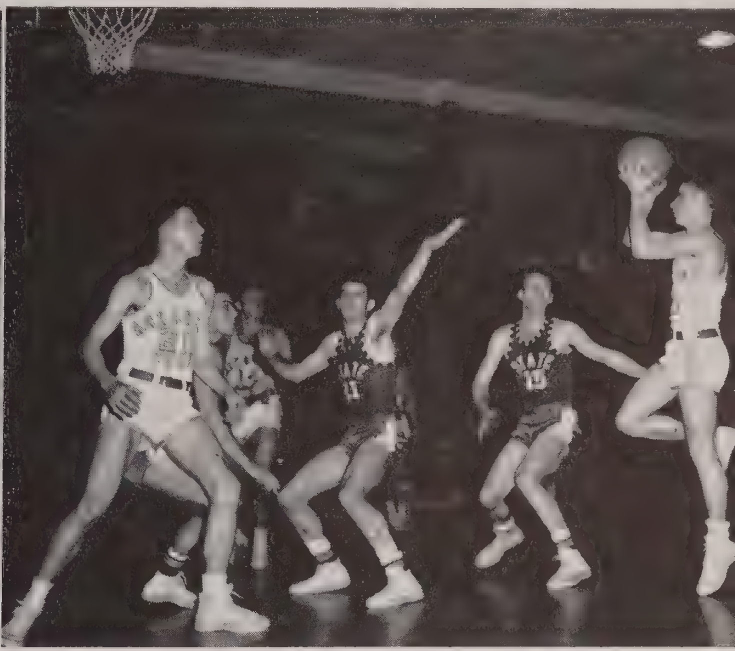
The trip to Kansas City and the NAIB was cut short by powerful Southwest Texas in the first game, when they overpowered the Techsters, 97-54.

All in all, the Wonder Boys played twenty-nine games and won twenty-five of them. In conference games, they won nineteen and lost one. Gene Wallick, the only senior on the squad and Billy Bert Baker, a junior, were selected on the All-State team.

The person that belongs to the helpless looking hand protruding from the mass of humanity is Donovan Horn, being embraced by five team mates after the astonishing victory over Arkansas State. Hundreds of painful tensions were released instantaneously at the final gun and everyone looked at the scoreboard again to make sure that the Wonder Boys had actually won. In fact, of all the people present there was only one person that appeared nonchalant and very much at ease. That person was Donovan Horn, who during the entire game, no matter what the pressure, was cool, calm, and collected, commanding at all times the very obvious respect of the Indians.

The veteran Indians were noted and feared throughout the State for their fast brand of floor play, but the Wonder Boys beat them at their own game. Horn exhibits here the style of dribbling which left them gasping, bewildered, and beaten.

After dribbling around his guard and manufacturing an opening by outmaneuvering his opponents, Horn rises off the floor for another of his unbelievably casual but accurate shots.



Gene "Foxy" Wallick is the only senior of the squad this year. He was chosen as the most valuable player n the conference, the second time he has won All-State honors. "Fox" is a great rebounder, an outstanding floor man, and a consistent scorer. He was second in scoring this season with a 9.8 points per game average.

Billy Bert Baker, a junior from Gilbert, was selected on the All-State five. He led the Wonder Boys in scoring this year with 299 points in 29 games for a 10.3 point per game average. Bill is a great scrapper and never quits hustling. Next year's team will probably be built around this top performer.

Danny Ruff, a junior from Western Grove, is recognized as the best ball hawk in the Conference. His hustle and drive earned him a position at guard on the third team in the All-State selections. He averaged seven points per game this season, but his floor play was his outstanding feature. He'll be back next year unless he is drafted.

E. C. O'Neal, freshman from County Line, stepped into the difficult task of filling the spot left by Deward Dopson, and did a great job of it. Big E. C. averaged 8.3 points per game, but was more outstanding as a rebounder than a scorer. He improved continually during the season, and should be a great asset to Tech's athletic program for the next three years.

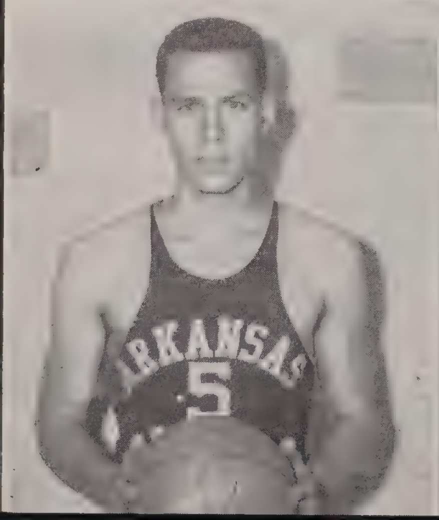
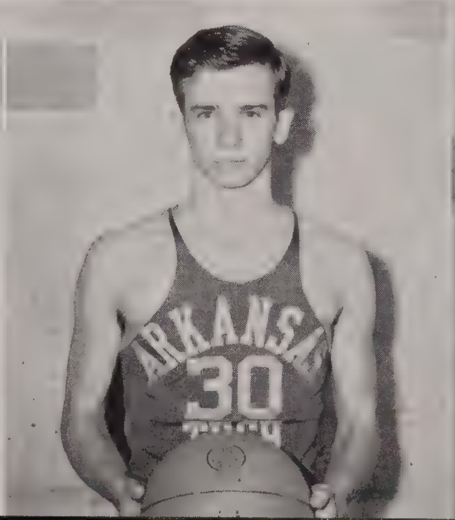
Boys! Fellas! That's no way to act! The ball is over this-a-way.

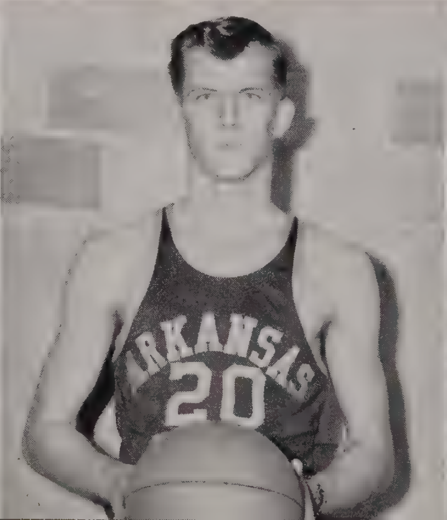
Willard Smith, freshman from Clinton, was the sparkplug of Coach Hindsman's second platoon. His jump shot contributed to many Tech victories. While playing less than half the time, he averaged 8.3 points per game. Willard will be a top candidate for a starting berth next year.



Donovan Horn, pint-sized freshman from St. Joe, won a guard spot on the first five and proved that basketball is not a big man's game by consistently showing up taller opponents. He was picked on the third team in the All-State selections. Horn averaged 9.1 points per game, third among the Wonder Boys. He celebrated his eighteenth birthday during the basketball season.



Kenneth Keeling, freshman forward from St. Joe, is a good rebounder and defensive man. He led the Wonder Boys in shooting percentages by making 53 per cent of his field goal attempts.



Bill "Sachmo" Stanley, gangling center from Fort Smith, earned hi first letter this year. Bill is a goo rebounder, a great hustler, and a con stant scoring theat. He made mor than 50 per cent of his shots this year He will be a big factor in Tech' basketball program for the next thre years.

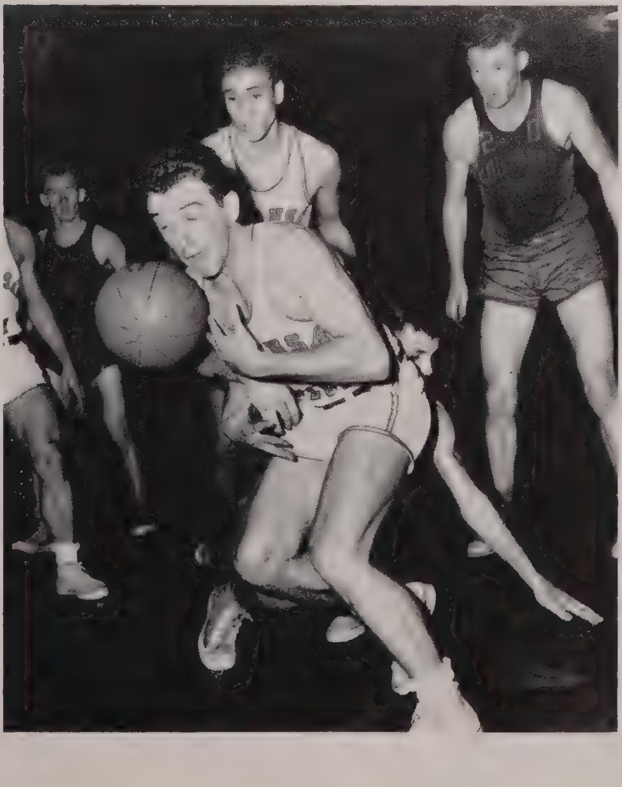
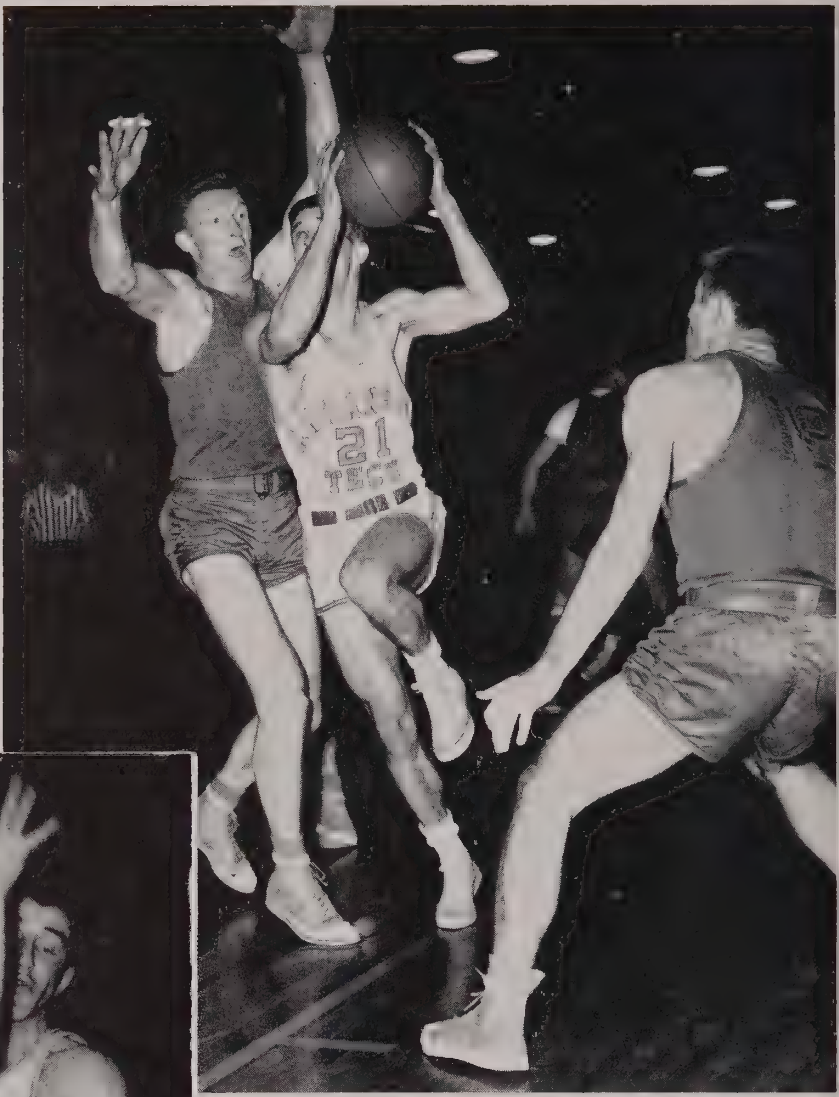
One ball—six arms are grasping for it, thousands of eyes are looking at it, and one camera stops it to preserve its omnipotence for posterity.

It's mine, you two guys can't have it — it's mine and I'm aimin' to keep it.

That's it Danny, plead with it and it'll come back.

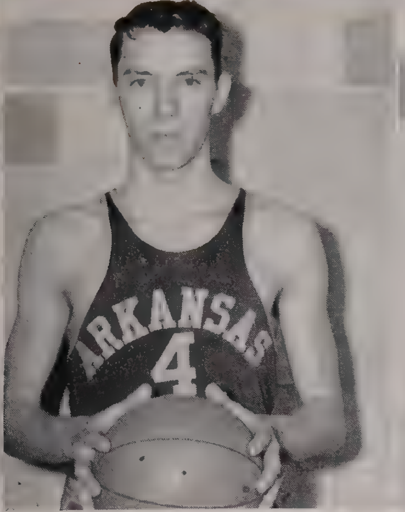


Say! That's a sneaky thing to do. Can't you fellows see that Dave's head is a lot fuzzier than the ball?

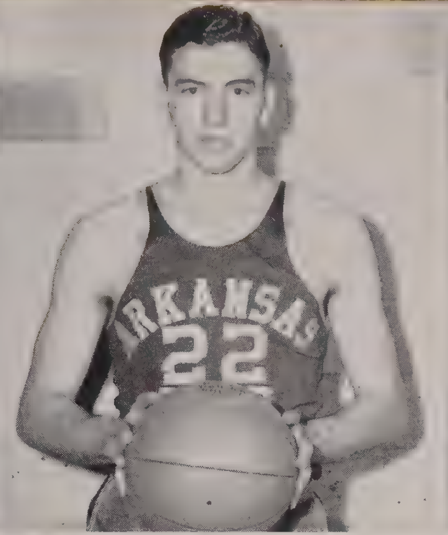


You can't scare Billy Bert, he's too cool. Watch him go right on up and make that basket.

That ball is certainly an illusive sort of a thing isn't it?



Paul Ray Martin, freshman from Marshall, is a hustling guard with a great eye for the basket. He is a good defensive man and handles the ball well. With three years left to go, he could develop into a great college player.



James Hudspeth, guard from St. Joe, shows a lot of promise. James is a good floor man and hits the basket consistently. He played a lot of ball in the "second platoon", and will be around three more years.

ARKANSAS

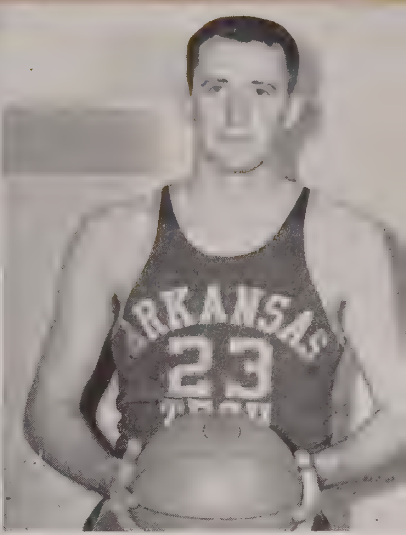
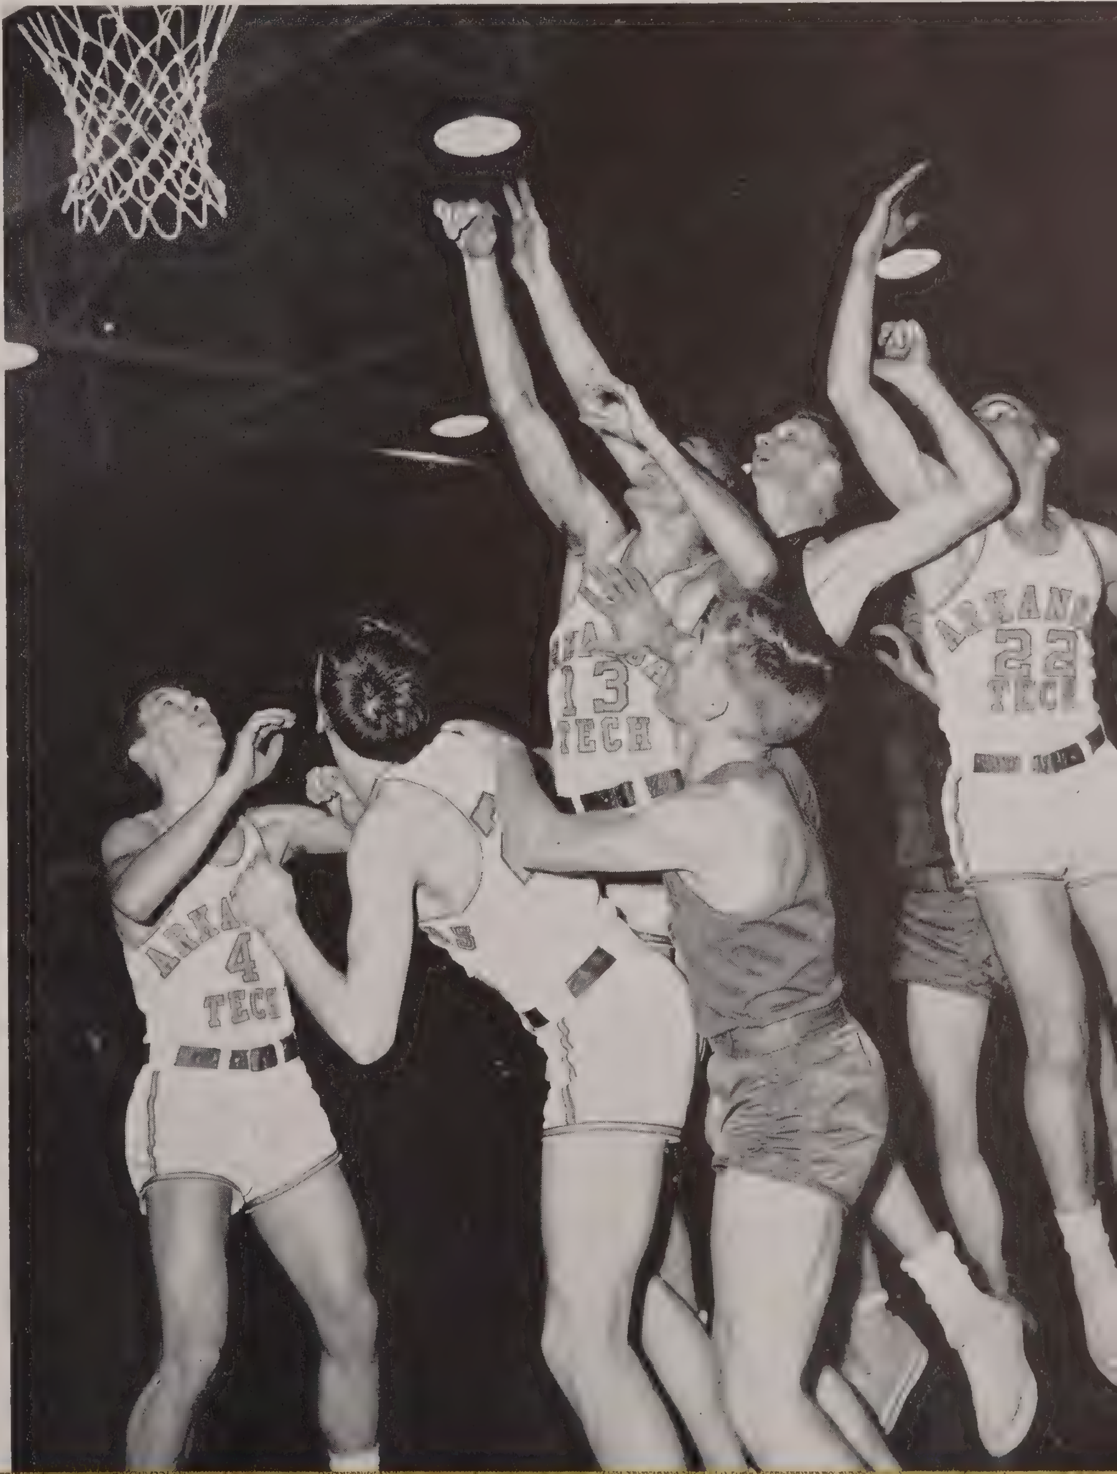
TECH

David Camfield, freshman from Siloam Springs, was used a lot at guard. He is a heady, alert ball player, and developed into a fine floor man.

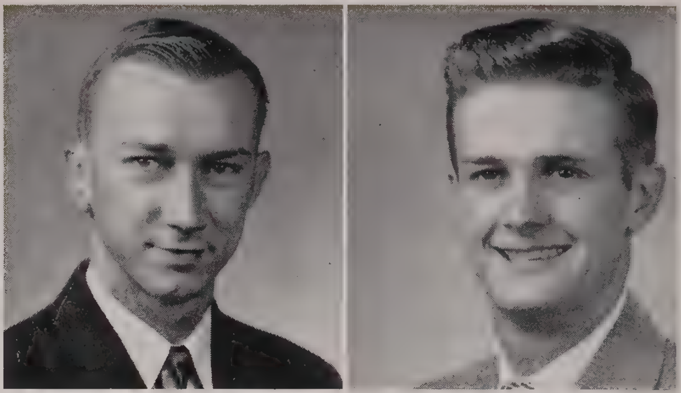


David Sacrey, freshman center from Russellville, joined the team late because of football, but came along fast. Dave has a good hook shot, and will undoubtedly see more action next year.



Isn't it amazing and amusing what the camera will see that the crowd and referees will completely miss. For instance, every eye on the court and in the stands was probably focused on the ball and those reaching toward it, and the chances are that the over-anxious Southern State boy in the foreground who is engaging in la-shove was not seen by the crowd or refs.

Gene Wallick and E. C. O'Neal were standouts around the backboard all season long. Here they are seen preparing to be there "firstest" with the "mostest" if that shot bounces off.

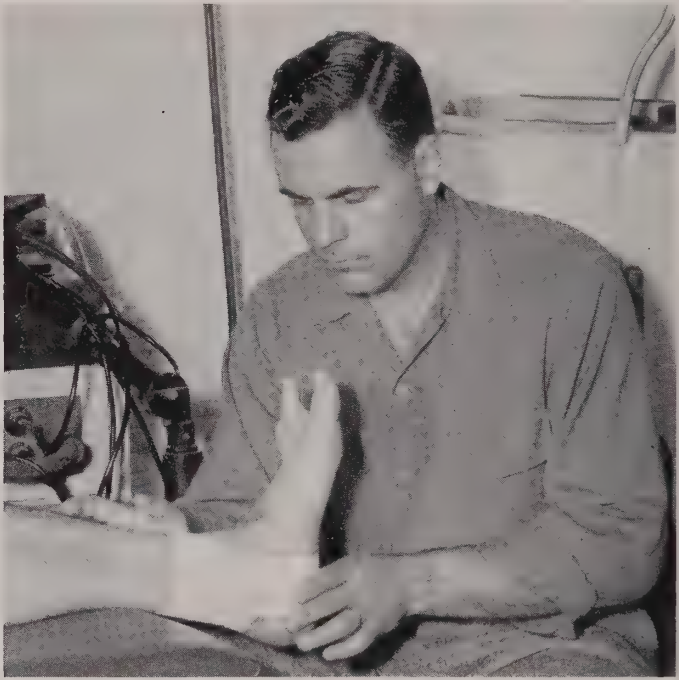


All-Staters: Gene Wallick, Billy Bert Baker.

James C. Bohannon is a busy man at Tech. Besides being a full-time student, he is Athletic Trainer for all athletic teams at Tech.

Bo's job is full of many little jobs that take a skilled hand to perform. In addition to doctoring the team, his duties are multiplied when the team takes to the road. Equipment must be packed, balls properly aired, and if the team leaves early he has to make sure everyone wakes up. He usually drives a vehicle to and from the school that Tech is playing and during the game "literally sweats out the score."

Bo's objective is to be a good coach, which he certainly should achieve after being in such close contact with the various athletic teams and coaches.



Don Rempel, freshman from Berryville, didn't see much action this year, but has now made the change to college ball. Don will be here three more years, and could develop into a starter next season.

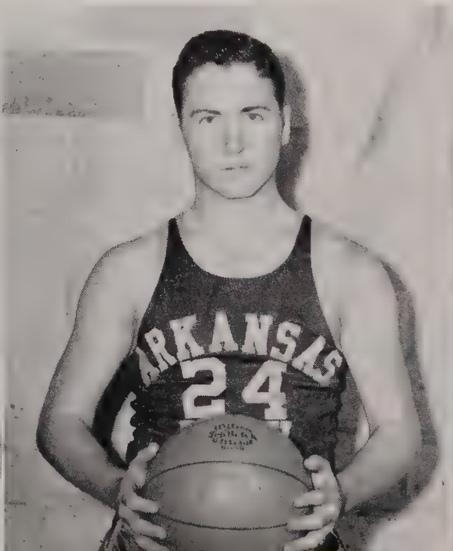
TECH

Charles Rosa, freshman from Russellville, joined the squad in mid-season. Charlie is a fancy dribbler and good set-shot, and in the three years he has to play, he could make a fine ball player.



Burlin Hefley, junior from Harrison, saw limited action this year at the pivot position. He showed promise as a defensive man, and will make somebody hustle to beat him out next year.

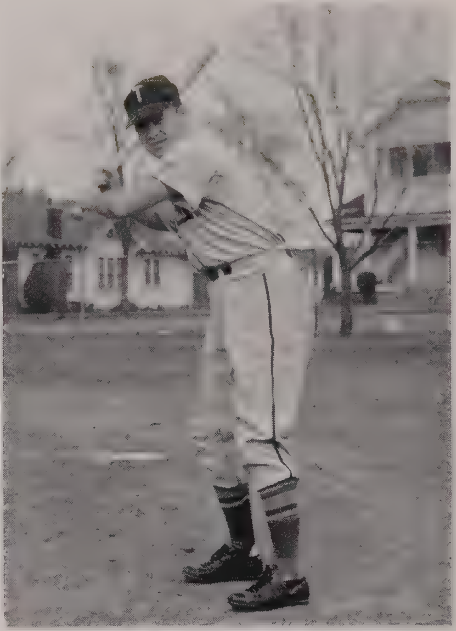
BASEBALL

Baseball like the rest of the sports at Tech this year will depend heavily on the merits of the freshmen. Although Coach Burnett has Kersh, Underhill, Mullens, and Grady back, his season will depend on freshmen such as Holbrook, Hancock, Smith, Rosa, and Dickerson.



Marion Underhill, one of the few returning lettermen, plays in the outfield and is a consistent hitter.

Outfield — Joseph Maestri, Marion Underhill, Joel Muse, and Ray Holbrook.

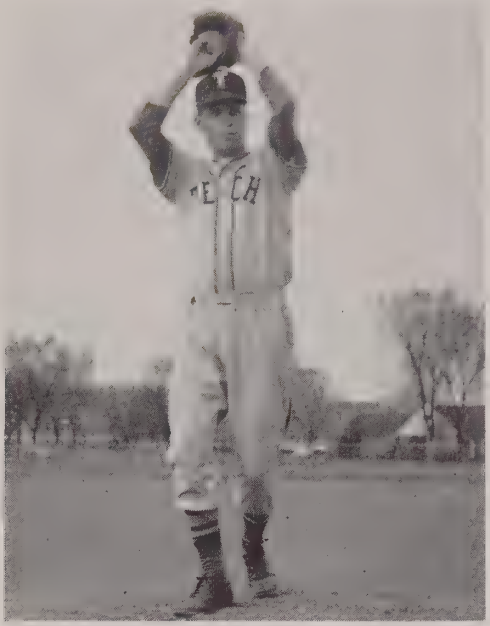
Infield — Charles Rosa, Gerald Coker, Kenneth Kersh, Jim Wood, and Bill Harper.



Bobby Mullens, pitcher and outfielder, returns to the mound this year at the expense of opposing batters. Mullens is a letterman.

Kenneth Kersh who has played infield for the Wonder Boys for two years is taking over some of the catching responsibilities this year.

Catchers: Bernard Huett and Lloyd Koontz.

BASEBALL

Letterman Bill Graddy returns to the mound this year for Tech and great things are expected from him in the coming season.

TRACK

The outlook on Track this season is a little brighter than it was last season. Very few of the dependable point-getters have been around in the last couple of years. The only mainstay to return was Arnold Bowden who has been very serious in his aspirations to take the State 880 and one mile run. There are, at this time, quite a few freshmen out for track, and Tech's chances for a place in the State Meet are very much increased by a few of them. Dave Sacrecy and Sammy May, according to this pre-season calculation, will run the opponents ragged in several track and field events. David Embry is promising in the one-half mile run, and Guy Lisenby is showing up well at the pole vault. Track is coached by "Nig" Bynum.

Arnold Bowden, a consistent point winner for Tech in the 880 and mile runs, works out early in the season.

Griffin Duncan, Billy Ashmore, Charles Rose, and Russell Dahl are shown taking a few laps while the air was still a little bit chilly.

Bob and Merle Briley are two boys that hope to carry the weight for Tech in the coming season.

Griffin Duncan whose specialty is the broad jump is getting ready for a start. Griffin is one of the returning lettermen on the track team this year.

Sammy May sets the pace around the curve as Guy Lisenby, Bill Davis, and Gerald Goff follow up. All these boys are freshmen and we are expecting great things from them.

Shown in the starting position are Fay Pew, Dave Sacrey, David Embry, and James Mayhugh. Much of this season's success will depend on freshmen such as Dave Sacrey.

Charles Robinette who is active in Intramural sports is trying out for the varsity team this season.

Charles Manus is another of the few returning track lettermen. Manus runs both the high and low hurdles.

TECH

The Arkansas Tech Wonder Girls' Basketball team coached by Bruce Smith and Deward Dopson entered the State Independent AAU Tournament in Cabot, Arkansas, March 5-8. The feminine cagers defeated Humnoke in the first round 42 to 25. However, the Wonder Girls were defeated by two points in their next game with the Brownie Oilers, score 28-26.

The Wonder Girls were victorious in their independent games with College of the Ozarks, 39-37; ASTC, 28-24; and College of Ozarks, 53-32.

ACTIVITIES

"Monsieur, les autres personnes qui habitent cet hotel protestent contre ce bruit insupportable." — LOUIS XIV

MARCHING BAND

The Tech Marching Band, under the direction of Gene Witherspoon, was one of the most active organizations on the campus during the fall semester. Parades, fairs, and rodeos throughout the Arkansas River Valley called for the Tech Band to help entertain the thousands of spectators.

Band pageantry was presented in all of its splendor during the football season as the band presented six original halftime shows. Highlighting these presentations were: "The Tech Circus" — The "Circus" contained the three traditional rings, the circus marches, the ringmaster, clowns, acrobats, dancers, a lion tamer, and a variety of lighted formations that amazed and amused the public; "The Red Feather" — a fifteen minute salute to the Community Chest Drive in the Greater Little Rock area, contained six formations and nine musical selections; "The Tech Scrapbook" — the Homecoming show, turned the pages of Tech history to "spotlight" the best remembered events of the past; and "Here Comes Santa" — the opening of the Christmas Season for the Russellville area.

The Tech Band is acclaimed to be one of the finest "show-bands" in the state and the past season serves to substantiate such opinions.

Hats off to the drum major and majorettes this season. Many envious eyes were turned our way when they saw our majorettes and band. From left to right they are: Suzi Lewis, Van Buren; Beverly Waller, Morrilton; Eddie Epperson, Searcy; Janie Hays, Van Buren; and Martha Armitage, Searcy.

A very typical scene—the band is waiting for the time to pass just before the game at State Teachers. Some of the kids are talking quietly, some are listening, but most of them are just sitting around and staring into space.

CONCERT BAND

The Arkansas Tech Concert Band presented a series of concerts during the second semester. Featuring such outstanding literature as "Finale from the New World Symphony," "Trauersinfonie," "Military Suite in E-flat" and "Porgy and Bess Selections," the band immediately became popular throughout this area. Don Davis—clarinet soloist, James Newsum—trumpet soloist, and Joe Cassady—trombone soloist were featured. Popular favorites included "Guys and Dolls," "Forward, the Light Brigade," "American Legion Forever," and the "Purple Carnival March."

QUARTET

The popular Tech Quartet under the direction of Bill Medley is widely recognized as one of the top notch men's quartets in the State.

Each year they tour Arkansas with the Tech A Cappella Choir. This year their rendition of such numbers as "Rigolletto," "Moonglow," "I Wish I Was a Rock," and "Who Built the Ark" especially delighted audiences.

Included in their repertoire also are many sacred numbers and the quartet is continually on the go at Christmas time meeting their tight schedule.

Aside from the fact that the group has a very delightful repertoire and a capable director, one is impressed with the personality of the boys. This, we feel, has contributed much to the success of the group.

Mr. Medley and the boys have fun as they work out on one of their lighter numbers.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Membership in the Tech A Cappella Choir is limited to those students whose voices are approved through try-outs held during the first two weeks of the school year. All students accepted are admitted to the class, but only forty voices are used for performances. Each year the choir makes a tour appearing at many towns and schools in the state. Single appearances are made in Russellville and surrounding towns.

The choir has become a vital part of campus activities, performing at assemblies and other school functions such as the Dad's Day program and the Christmas Vesper program. This year the choir is under the direction of Miss Virginia Sue Williamson, acting chairman of the Fine Arts Division. The choir is an outstanding campus organization and is well-known throughout the state.

Miss Virginia Sue Williamson has done a commendable job with the choir. The snap shows the choir at one of its regular afternoon rehearsals with Miss Williamson directing.

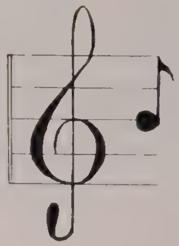
ORCHESTRA



The Arkansas Tech Orchestra under the direction of Gene Witherspoon and one of Arkansas' most popular musical organizations, is sponsored by the music department. The dance band plays for almost all of the engagements on the campus—formals, student dances, and music for banquets and other social functions. Boasting a library of several hundred selections, the orchestra varies its style to meet the demand of the students. Outstanding numbers this year include: Sherry Sherman's version of "Melancholy Rhapsody" and "Say It Isn't So," Don Crosby's vocals on "Loveliest Night of the Year" and "Cry," the Dixieland group's version of "Down Yonder" and "When the Saints Go Marching In," and the complete orchestra on "Lover," "Blues from American In Paris," "My Ideal," "Fishmarket," and "Boogie Blues."

Newsum is taking a little ride on the brass at the Freshman Reception dance. From the very first performance it was evident that this year's orchestra was to excel all former orchestras at Arkansas Tech.

The Dance Orchestra personnel includes: Saxophones, Dewey Tom Lewis, Carroll Moseley, Bob Cartwright, Don Davis, and Jerry Hines; Trumpets, Jim Newsum, Bob Casey, Dix Stallings, and Jimmy Frank Harp; Trombones, Joe Cassady, Robert Cartwright, and George Hazelbaker; Piano, Bonnie Bolling; Bass, Hosa Lee Shepherd; Drums, Jimmy Hull; Vocalists, Sherry Sherman and Don Crosby.

The orchestra is shown between numbers at the Homecoming Dance. It is possible, however, that they are just waiting for "Spoon" to come down off of a trumpet ride, for if you will notice he seems to be the only one playing.

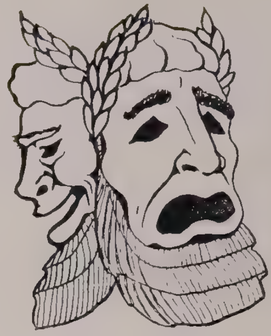
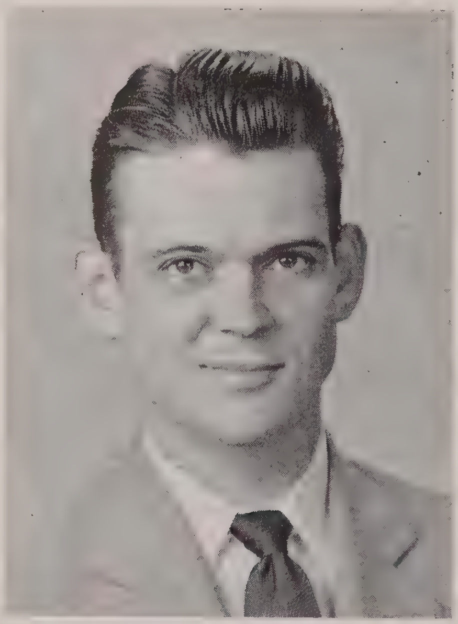
LITTLE THEATRE



Charles E. Reed, Jr., Little Theatre Director, has produced many superb productions in the four years he has been at Tech. He is rapidly becoming well-known over the state for the professional quality of his productions and especially for the effectiveness of his lighting and staging.

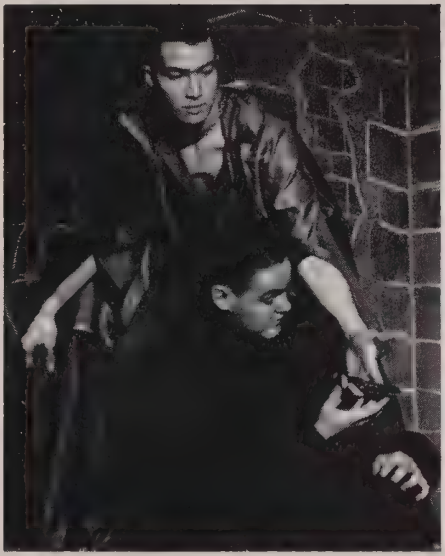
The Tech Theatre Guild players under Mr. Reed's direction have presented two plays this year, and rehearsals are in progress for a third production. The first Guild production was a six-day run of Christopher Marlowe's "The Tragical History of Doctor Faustus." The plot of the play centered around Dr. Faustus' decision to resort to magic and the black arts in order to achieve his goals. The difficult role of Faustus was played by George Crosby. Mr. Reed accomplished his usual dramatic effects with the lighting and the set. "Dear Ruth", a delightful comedy followed Dr. Faustus.

Rehearsals are now in progress for Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." Mr. Reed plans to use the original incidental music, "Midsummer Night's Dream" in the production. This composition by Mendelssohn was the first incidental music to be attached to the presentation of the play. This play will have a cast of about eighteen students.



Charles E. Reed, Jr.

Dramatic lighting and a striking set set the keynote throughout the play. Here Dr. Faustus with Valdes and Cornelius come into view as the wall to the study fades away.



A tense moment of the plot is shown as Mephistophilis (Dave Shaw) suggests suicide to Dr. Faustus (George Crosby) as he offers him a knife.

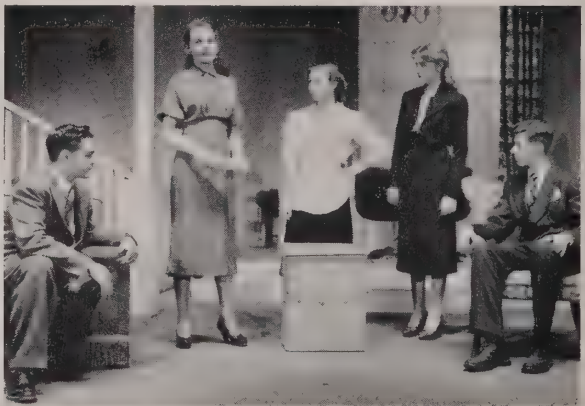
Albert Kummer has just been through a miserable afternoon. He sits in the chair as he tells his troubles to Judge and Mrs. Wilkins.

"Dear Ruth", a comedy by Norman Krasna was the second Guild production. The cast's presentation of this comedy thoroughly delighted the audiences. The plot revolved around the complications "Ruth" faced by having two men on a string, due to her little sister's war efforts. The situation was capably handled by Joyce Micklewright in the title role of "Ruth".



The box is full of cracker-jacks and Dora, the maid (Jerry Cavaness) is wondering what to do with it.
